

DONATION LIST OPENS FOR KOREAN KIDDIES' FUND

Subscription list opened today for the "Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund" of the Unitarian Service Committee, which will be sponsored in Victoria by the Victoria Daily Times.

This will be the seventh consecutive year that the Times has supported the USC Christmas appeal headed by Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, USC executive director.

Known in nearly every underprivileged area of the world as the "little lady with the big heart," Dr. Hirschman-ova has directed her efforts in recent years to assisting the human wreckage left in Korea by the war there.

Last year her fund was devoted to providing milk for Korean children, who rarely taste something which Victorians accept as commonplace.

The year before the "T. Bricks for Korea" campaign provided materials for a tuberculosis outpatients' pavilion at Han No Hospital in Seoul, Korea.

This year the objective of the fund is $15,000 to build a rehabilitation centre in Seoul for war-crippled children, and supplement the work done in the Sam Yook home for war-crippled children in the Korean capital.

A monumental job faces the committee. There are 50,000 war-mutilated children in Korea facing treatment for wounds, lifetimes of hospital care, devices to assist amputees, and the need for special instruction to let them make their own way against exceedingly difficult obstacles.

For those who have forgotten the cause of so much misery, here is a brief account of the hostilities which caused so much human wreckage.

The country was divided along the 38th parallel by what was to have been a temporary agreement, with the Russians in the north, and Americans in the south. As a result, the Republic of Korea was formed in 1948.

In June, 1950, Korean Communist troops from the north invaded the republic, the UN army fought back, and the bitter and costly war, which left 100,000 Korean orphans, 284,000 widows, and 517,000 dependent children, lasted two years and 17 days.

Cheques should be made out to the Korean Crippled Kiddies Fund, and mail donations should be addressed to the fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

Cash donations will be accepted at the main office of the Times at 2631 Douglas Street, or at the downtown office, 1215 Broad Street. All donations will be acknowledged in the Times and will be deductible for income tax purposes. Receipts will be given directly to donors who appear in person and mailed to the others.

A collection taken at a public meeting in Oak Bay Junior High School Thursday night, when Dr. Hirschmanova spoke on her work in Asia (see story page 6) netted $208.27.

Given at the same time were $25 from Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scutrah, and $100 from the Times.

Other donations were as follows:

IKE ARRIVES IN ROME

'We Want To Live In Peace'

ROME (UPI)—President Eisenhower delivered to the Italian people today a "simple message from America... We want to live in peace."

He stood bare-headed in wind and driving rain for the playing of the United States and Italian national anthems after stepping down to the puddle-filled runway of Ciampino airport from the 707 jet airliner that carried him here from Washington at the start of an 11-nation goodwill tour.

The heavy rain that has pelted Rome for a week delayed his arrival by 16 minutes and gave the airport ground radar installations a few moments of difficulty in locating the presidential plane as it approached for a landing in a heavy overcast.

But the huge plane splashed down to a safe and wet landing.

When he stepped from the aircraft, Eisenhower was greeted by Italian President Giovanni Gronchi, Premier Antonio Segni and a host of other officials.

"We want to live in peace and friendship, with freedom," the president told them.

"This message, I hope, will be heard in every country where communications are free."

The rain held the crowd to a minimum, but even the communists had joined with the rest of Italy beforehand to make it clear that Eisenhower's visit was welcomed with warmth and high hopes for world peace.

'Italy's Tribute Is Unanimous'

Gronchi told him despite the multi-party Italian system, which includes a powerful Communist faction, Italy's tribute to Eisenhower "is unanimous—I want to stress the word 'unanimous'."

After his remarks which reiterated the views he expressed before leaving Washington Thursday night for the unprecedented 19-day journey that will take him to three continents, Eisenhower was whisked off to the centre of Rome.

The president was greeted by warm applause. A handful of spectators shouted "we like Ike" as he drove by en route to an afternoon of quiet rest after his arduous journey.

He had a scheduled informal meeting at 7:30 p.m. with Gronchi. An hour later, Eisenhower was to be guest of honor at a dinner given by the Italian president.

In a broadcast Thursday night just before he left Washington, Eisenhower emphasized that his is a message of peace.

"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire—a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

The president said the first requirement for reducing the tensions is a start on mutual disarmament by the Western powers and the Soviet bloc. But he warned that until disarmament starts, the U.S. must maintain a military strength adequate in quality and power.

Power Export Ban to Stay; Hits at Peace River Deal

KEY FIGURES IN POWER STRUGGLE

Provincial and federal cabinet ministers met here today for fourth session in Columbia River hydro talks. From left are B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, chairman; Attorney-General

Robert Bonner, Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton, federal co-chairman; and External Affairs Minister Howard Green. An attitude of general agreement in the progress of negotiations was reported.

Green Presses Columbia Project In Talks Here

By PETE LOUDON

A climax to years of planning for two immense hydro projects for British Columbia was reached here today with opening of talks between two federal cabinet ministers and provincial government officials on the proposed Columbia River development.

The long-smouldering clash between this scheme and the enormous Wenner-Green proposal for the Peace River in northeastern B.C. clearly emerged when External Affairs Minister Howard Green, on the eve of the talks, said the Canadian government does not propose to relax its policy of refusing export of electric power to the United States.

Sharp Blow

Officials of the Peace River Power Development Company have said they would need to export power to utilize the full potential of the $610,000,000 project. They have already made representations to Ottawa for removal of taxes on power exports.

First reaction of power experts was that Mr. Green's statement had delivered a sharp blow to the Peace River plan.

Interviewed at the Empress Hotel on his arrival Thursday night, Mr. Green also squashed Peace River Power Development Co. statements that the Columbia would not be able to produce power for 11 years.

By Next Year

He forecast completion of a Columbia River power treaty with the United States in time to see work start on the first Columbia storage dam next year.

He said he believed Columbia power, in form of return of downstream benefits by the U.S., would be transmitted to the coast at a cost of less than four mills immediately the dam was built.

He set no date, but Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission probing the Columbia project, said last June this would be possible by 1966.

This would match the best hopes of the Peace promoters and would have the added advantage of a lower cost power. PRPD president W. C. Mairwaring recently said Peace power would come to the coast at a cost competitive with other power now supplied here—generally described at the six-mill level.

People Decide

Perhaps with all this in mind, Mr. Green then told reporters, the people of B.C. should "decide for themselves" whether the Peace project should be permitted to go ahead at the same time as the Columbia.

The company expects a decision on a water licence application to the B.C. government.

Pulp Empire 'Logical' For Peace

Establishment of a pulp industry in the Peace River area in 1961 would be a logical follow-up development to the Peace River hydro scheme, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today.

He was commenting on a report Thursday from Vancouver that construction of a pulp mill complex was under preliminary study by Wenner-Green B.C. Development Company. (See page 11.)

"If you are going to flood an area, it's a foregone conclusion the timber must be removed. The mills would also provide a demand for the Peace power," he said.

The proposed Peace River dam will create a lake 300 miles long in the Rocky Mountain Trench.

Mr. Williston also commented at noon on progress of the Columbia River hydro talks which started here this morning. He and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton are joint chairmen.

SURPRISING

"There is surprising unanimity and a good working relationship."

He agreed with the earlier comments of External Affairs Minister Howard Green that B.C. is as anxious as Ottawa to get the Columbia hydro project underway.

"But," he added, "There are real differences and I have no idea when they will be resolved."

The federal-provincial committee is studying progress reports of the International Joint Commission.

Steel Chief Rejects Plea

(See Page 17)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief steel industry negotiator today rejected President Eisenhower's call for around-the-clock negotiations.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice-president of U.S. Steel, told reporters:

"Continuous hours of meetings do not necessarily mean effective collective bargaining. I'll schedule meetings as they seem most productive."

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Immigration Ban Grievance Cause

This is the sixth in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

Japan has a two-sided grievance against Canada—this country is admitting large numbers of immigrants from all over the Western world and substantial numbers from China but it admits virtually no Japanese.

The grievance is two sided because it secretly humiliates the Japanese people and retards promising Japanese investments in Canada.

When this delicate subject of Asiatic immigration is opened two facts should be understood at once: First, Japan has no hope or thought of relieving its population pressure by exporting its citizens and is unlikely to reach its small emigration target of 12,000 persons in all foreign countries this year.

Second, Japan thoroughly understands why Canada will not admit large numbers of its people as permanent residents and makes no complaint on that score.

Nevertheless, the discrimination

tion against Japanese, as compared to Chinese, rankles deeply in Japan.

Last year Canada admitted 2,615 Chinese immigrants through Hong Kong on compassionate grounds—ostensibly the relatives of Chinese already living here, though in fact no one can be sure who or what they were, since proof is difficult or impossible. But only 188 Japanese were admitted on similar grounds. In the first nine months of this year Chinese immigrants numbered 2,046 and Japanese 150.

Space Monkey Sam Picked Up in Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP)—A monkey made a test trip 55 miles out from earth today in a space capsule and was recovered from a descent into the Atlantic Ocean.

The capsule, that carried the monkey—named Sam—on a 13-minute flight is the one designed for an eventual attempt to put a man into space.

CONDITION NOT KNOWN

The capsule, parachuted on its descent, was picked up by the destroyer Borie about 200 miles at sea a little more than three hours later.

There was no immediate determination of whether Sam had come through the flight safely.

The officers of the Borie decided against opening the sealed capsule in the absence of a physician who might be able to give the monkey quick treatment if he had been injured.

Another navy vessel, the Fort Mandan, stood nearby.

The national aeronautics and space agency said there was a doctor aboard the Fort Mandan and tentative plans were to transfer the capsule to the landing ship by means of a line.

However, the seas were rough, with waves eight feet high, and there might be difficulty in doing this.

As his first formal assignment, Gen. Burns would take up his duties in Ottawa "as soon as he has taken leave of his command in Gaza." Gen. Burns returned to the Middle East Wednesday after a four-week furlough in Canada.

He will be responsible for advising the government on all disarmament matters and will represent Canada in international negotiations relating to disarmament questions.

As his first formal assignment, Gen. Burns will serve as Canadian representative on the new 10-power disarmament committee, expected to begin its work in Geneva early in the new year.

The committee, formed recently to supplement the work of the United Nations in the disarmament field, is comprised of five Western and five Communist members.

In a brief interview, before he entered a cabinet session, Mr. Diefenbaker said he was

Japanese Ship Hits Coast Guard Tender

SEATTLE (AP)—A United States Coast Guard buoy tender and a Japanese tanker collided in the fog-shrouded mouth of the Columbia River off Astoria, Ore., this morning.

Coast Guard headquarters here said both vessels were holed. The tanker, the Meiko Maru of Tokyo, settled about eight feet but apparently was in no immediate danger of sinking.

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—An explosion shattered the forward hold of a tanker 65 miles off the North Carolina coast today, but reports from the ship indicated there were no injuries and no immediate danger of sinking.

Suicide on Tape

HOW IT FEELS TO DIE

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Navyman Charles Douglas Bishop is dead but his voice may still be heard—describing how it feels to die of cyanide poisoning.

Police said the 21-year-old sailor from Grants Pass, Ore., committed suicide by swallowing potassium cyanide crystals, and kept a tape recorder going while he was dying.

His body was found Thursday by a maid at a motel on Pacific Coast Highway. Bishop left a note saying: "Play the tape recorder."

Police found the recorder, turned it on.

The first part of the tape contained a statement by Bishop that he was going to kill himself because of "personal problems." Further on, the recorded voice said:

"I am now taking the cyanide..."

"I have now swallowed the cyanide."

There was a gasp, then the voice continued:

"It's beginning to burn..."

"My heart is beginning to pound..."

Another gasp.

"My heart is pounding so hard it's shaking the bed..."

Then these last words: "Please forgive me, folks."

MOSCOW—The laughs Russian clowns have been getting aren't political enough.

Prof. Yuri Demetiev of the Arts Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences Thursday said the clowns don't pay enough attention to fighting bourgeois ideology, such as the striving for private ownership.

He gave them a three-point program to "significant laughter" during a congress of clowns held here to discuss ways to brighten circus life.

The professor suggested they become better politically trained, give more time to international problems and take higher education courses.

"Today, the politically untrained clown cannot be a good clown," he said.

CHIPPENHAM, England—Motorist Douglas Mainstone was fined $18.80 Thursday because his home-made automobile:

Lacked a back to the seat; lacked a floor; lacked a partition between front seat and engine; had a kitchen stool as a front seat; had a gasoline tank that consisted of a one-gallon tin can held by a single wire to the dashboard; lacked a horn.

OTTAWA — An action for non-support against CBC television personality Fred Davis has been filed in county court here by his former wife.

The action, launched in the name of Jeanne Olive Young Davis, now living in Auckland, N.S., with her 10-year-old daughter Kathie, claims that Davis is $878 in arrears.

MIAMI—It was a comedy of errors that saved $300,000 in jewelry.

Jack West, an official of a jewelry store, lost his key to the main safe Thursday. He called a locksmith.

Two bandits entered and demanded he open it up. He couldn't.

Robert Stetler, the locksmith, arrived. The bandits got $10 from him, but no information of his trade.

The bandits took in all about $800 from Stetler and store employees and a $4,816 ring that was not in the vault.

Stetler and West shook hands.

HOLLYWOOD—The Mickey Rooney-Jack Paar soap opera has left the air.

For two days the comics fussed, made up, fussed again, made up once more.

The action, entirely verbal, began with Rooney's guest appearance with Paar on his television show Tuesday night. Paar decided Rooney was drunk and said so. Mickey stalked off the show by request.

On Wednesday Rooney went to Paar's hotel to punch Jack on the nose. A long and somewhat soggy reconciliation took place instead. Paar invited Mickey back on the show Thursday night.

Rooney bowed out with a formal statement: "I am convinced nothing further could be gained by anyone were I to appear again with Jack Paar. I told him personally I was sorry for what occurred Tuesday night. He stated his regrets to his nationwide audience. As far as I am concerned the whole matter is over."

Cast of 50 In Vic High Broadway Hit

Tonight at 8:15 an ambitious student production will give its first of two performances, when the curtain rises on Victoria High School's full-length musical, "Song of Norway." It will be given in the school auditorium.

The Broadway hit of a few years ago, is based on the life of Edward Grieg and the musical score which features as a principle theme, the famous piano concerto, adapts many of his best-known compositions.

Young singers featured include Bill Hosie, who plays Grieg; Barbara Oldnall, as Nina, the girl he loved, and Rino Elverhoy, Darlaine Frewling, Bill Hubbard, John and Judy Roberts and Kevan Hull.

Altogether more than 50 students are taking part, assisted by a ballet group from the Wynne Shaw Dance Studio and folk dance coaching by the Sons of Norway.

Stage director is Victor Mitchell, who recently returned from a three-year sojourn in England and Europe. Musical direction is by Miss Norma Douglas, who handles the choral and vocal solo work, and Mrs. Dorothy Evans, conducting the orchestra.

There will be a second performance Saturday night.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The government announced that loyal forces repulsed an armed invasion from Costa Rica at dawn today. The size of the attacking force was not given.

BECK FILES TAX APPEAL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorneys for Dave Beck have asked reversal of his income tax evasion conviction, contending a "massive campaign of hostile publicity" led to indictment of the former teamsters' union president.

Beck's counsel filed a 94-page brief Thursday with the United States circuit court of appeals here, asking it to quash his February conviction in U.S. District Court at Tacoma.

Soviet Urges Pact On Culture Exchange

—BY TOM GOULD
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Russia is pressing the Canadian government to sign a formal agreement on cultural exchanges, it was learned today.

So far, Canada has stalled, although negotiations have been under way for the better part of a year.

Government officials will only say that "there have been informal discussions."

Canada's hesitation stems from the government's reluctance to have the state move into the field of culture.

FOOD DOWN, BUT OTHER PRICES AT RECORD HIGH

Clothes, Cars Hike Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—Despite lower food prices, living costs in Canada rose in October for the fourth consecutive month, pushing the consumer price index to a record high of 128.3 on Nov. 1 from 128 a month earlier, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The increase of three-tenths of a point in the index—based on 1949 prices equalling 100—was caused mainly by higher prices for clothing, 1960 passenger automobiles and services such as men's haircuts.

The index for Nov. 1 was 1.6 per cent above last November's index of 126.3.

The sub-index of food costs declined in October to 123.8 from 124.2 in September. This was the first monthly decline in the index since May.

Lower prices were reported in the month for eggs, grapefruit, canned vegetables, some beef and pork cuts and lamb. Most fresh vegetables prices were higher.

The index of industrial products and salaries at Oct. 1—latest figure available—was 173.1, up from 170.9 at Sept. 1 and 164.9 at Oct. 1, 1958.

There was an increase of .8

per cent in the clothing sub-index, a rise of one per cent in the other commodities and services sub-index and a gain of .1 per cent in the shelter and household operation sub-indices.

Prices for women's fur coats and boys' parkas were up from those prevailing at the end of last winter and also above those in October a year ago.

Footwear recorded further price increases, particularly children's shoes which rose 4.6 per cent in the month. A number of men's furnishings also rose slightly.

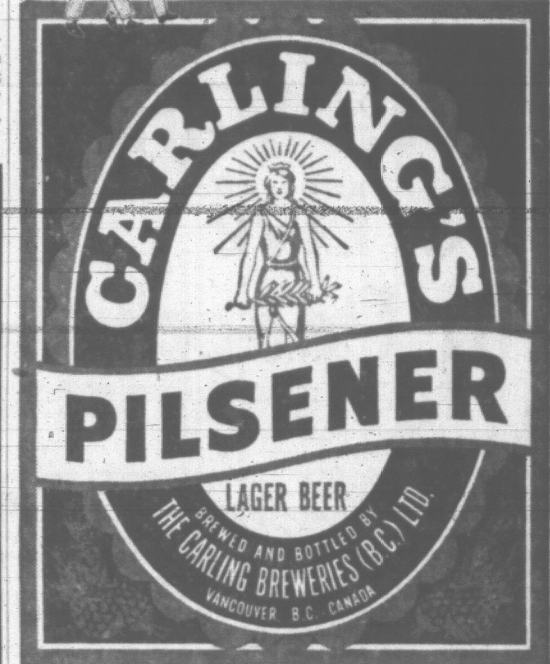

The other commodities and services index rose 1.4 points to 136.9 due largely to initial pricing of 1960 passenger cars.

Price increases also were recorded for theatre admissions, pharmaceuticals, personal care items and women's hairdressing.

Heavy Toll On Roadways In Oak Bay

Traffic deaths in B.C. may hit a new high this year, Police Chief Robert Smith said Thursday, addressing the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club.

Property damage so far this year, said Chief Smith, was more than $9,500,000 in the almost 20,000 accidents.

In Oak Bay alone, 41 persons have been injured and property damage totalled $42,000 to date this year.

He praised work of the Motor Vehicles Branch in its campaign to "get the bad drivers off the road."

So far in 1959, 60,000 have been screened for a total of 11,000 licence suspensions.

Mass Burial Today

Toll May Hit 500 In Dam Disaster

FREJUS, France (CP)—Searchlights pierced the early-morning darkness of this wreck of a Riviera town today, providing glimpses of muddy desolation.

More than 24 hours after the collapse of the Malpasset dam sent a torrent of flood water cascading down the Reyran Valley, police and rescue workers still had no way of knowing the number of its victims.

The complete toll may never be known. Some rescue organization estimates today ran as high as 500, although town officials called this figure exaggerated or premature.

Mass funeral services were scheduled today for more than 100 of the victims.

HOMES GONE

Most of the town's inhabitants were homeless, being cared for by the vast relief operation mobilized by surrounding towns.

The receding water left a crazy-quilt of disaster on the surrounding countryside. Beams of houses lay on hill-sides, far above the town. Beds stood in the middle of a field.

A two-car electric train, whose passengers and crew barely got out in time, lay deeply embedded in the mud. Pavements were ripped to shreds. Bulldozers nudged fallen trees from the roads.

Nine helicopters, hovering in the darkness, directed the efforts of 1,000 soldiers. Ambulances crept back and forth on the highway, passing the truck convoys that still rolled in from Marseille with supplies.

Some 200 bodies had been recovered by this morning, and the missing list continued to grow. Officials explained that the missing total could only be based on requests made by relatives.

HASTY BURIAL

Officials decided on a hastily arranged mass funeral this afternoon for as many as possible of the identified victims. The burial site was Frejus Cemetery, which is in a high part of the town.

Scores of other bodies draped in sheets were placed in rows along corridors of the Frejus Hospital and in makeshift morgues.

Hosts of stricken relatives of the missing paced slowly back and forth, scanning the uncovered faces.

Georges Gachon, chief aide to Interior Minister Pierre Chatenet toured the disaster area and reported that more than 100 homes were ripped from their foundations by the water.

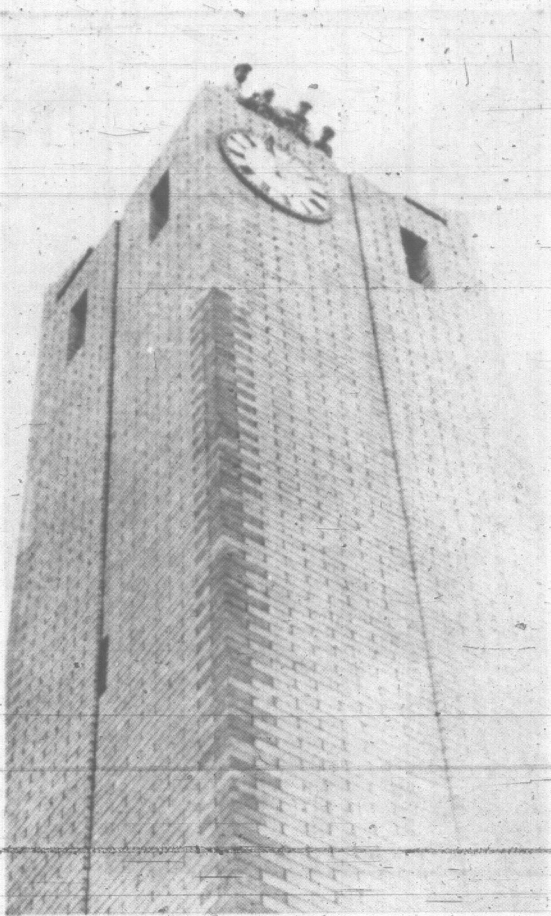

Entire families were feared buried in the thick brown silt left by the flood. The silt, more than nine feet deep in some areas, was like quicksand, and rescue workers still were unable to search there.

Officials still could find no explanation for the break in the steel-and-concrete dam.

But French newspapers of all political shades suggest that there was negligence in its construction and operation just before the disaster.

"There was a crime, and a crime cannot go without punishment," declares L'Aurore of Paris.

Victoria Natural History Society will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Building cafeteria for an illustrated lecture on "A Year's Travel in Pictures" by C. P. Lyons, provincial parks supervisor and Audubon lecturer.

Brazil Rebellion Held to Outpost

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A "rebel army" of 28 officers held a tiny outpost in the jungles of central Brazil today, but their efforts to promote a general uprising appeared to have failed.

U.S.-made jet fighters of the government air force "buzzed" the reported rebel stronghold of Aragaras Thursday night in a warning gesture, apparently without opening fire. It was believed the government might drop paratroops on the town unless the rebels quickly surrendered.

The insurgent "air force"—five stolen planes, none of them known to be armed—was said to be parked on the turf runway of the airstrip in Aragaras, a mining town 700 miles northwest of Rio.

There were unconfirmed reports, however, that the rebels had abandoned Aragaras and fled 600-odd miles farther to the northwest, into the Cachimbo Mountains of southern Para province.

The army alerted garrisons in major cities and sent tanks to patrol the streets of Rio Thursday night, but official and private reports agreed that major army, navy and air force units had remained loyal.

Prairies Seek Probe Of All Freight Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prairies today sought to get the royal commission studying transportation to launch a wide-ranging re-appraisal of Canada's freight rate structure.

The bid came from J. J. Frawley, counsel for the Alberta government, with the backing of Arthur Mauro, counsel for Manitoba, as the commission opened an investigation restricted to statutory freight rates.

Mr. Frawley asked the commission to order the railways to give full cost and revenue information on freight rate operations "suspected" of producing losses.

He sought data on passenger operations, branch lines, agreed charges, competitive rates and a number of other items.

"We've got to reappraise the Canadian rate structure. All of it, including, if you like, the Crowsnest-Pass grain rates," Mr. Frawley said.

Before the noon adjournment, Saskatchewan and B.C. also threw their support behind the move to thrash out all railway revenue problems—not just statutory rate difficulties.

BANK CASHIER ADMITS THEFT OF $340,000

TENEHA, Tex. (AP)—The Teneha First State Bank, short $340,000, closed Thursday and the federal government began liquidating the institution in this east Texas town of 700.

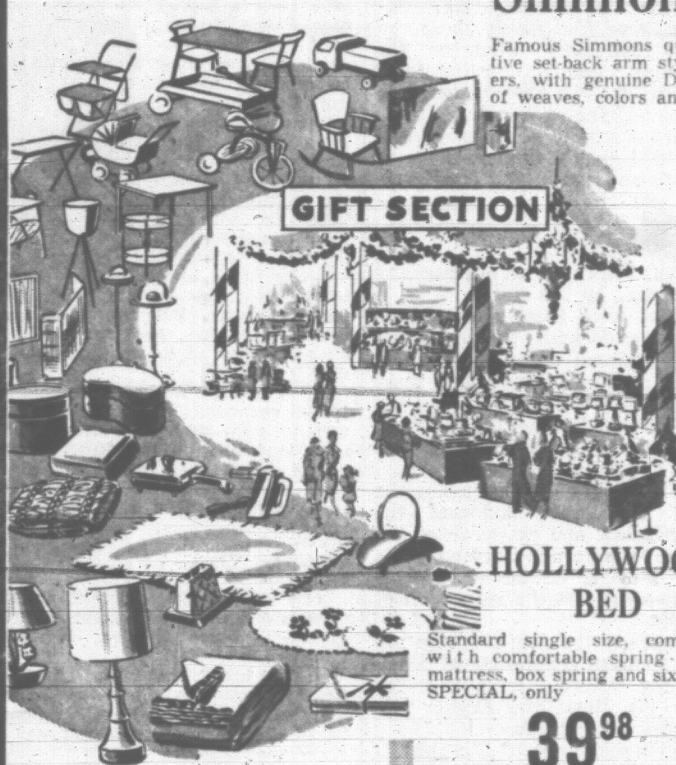

The bank president, Jack Motley, said Clifford Gary, 35, assistant cashier, admitted taking the money over a period of years.

ACHIEVEMENT

The expression "hit the bull's eye" has been used since the early days of archery to symbolize excellence and achievement. People the world over tell us that Grant's Stand Fast hits the bull's eye with them. Its characteristic smoothness and distinctive flavour are the result of five generations of the Grant family's distilling experience. To hit the bull's eye as a host, many folks serve Grant's.

No Place for the Noose

ACCORDING TO THE HON. DAVID FULTON, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has already made it clear that the cabinet will commute the death sentence of a 14-year-old boy convicted on a murder charge if such action becomes necessary.

Mr. Fulton's word will not be challenged. But obviously Mr. Diefenbaker did not make it clear enough, or make it clear soon enough, to avoid the widespread and embarrassing publicity given to the case and the government's attitude by The Manchester Guardian.

The Guardian's criticism, no doubt reprinted in many parts of the world, leaves the impression that Canada is prepared to hang 14-year-old boys.

This is the reverse of fact. The present government in particular is noted for the number of commutations—27 out of the last 34 capital sentences. Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton, both humanitarian men, have established what must be a record for relieving convicted murderers of the death penalty.

The fault in the present case seems to rest on a failure to let the rest of the world know without delay that the boy would not be executed.

Mr. Fulton is on sound ground when he explains that actual commutation was delayed until the full processes of law had been exhausted. The youth in question, the minister points out, might win acquittal on a new trial if an appeal were sought and granted. Until the time for launching an appeal ended, commutation would serve only to short-circuit those legal processes which conceivably could lift the whole stigma of murder from the boy.

The incident has raised once again the issue of capital punishment in Canada. It is three years since Parliament voted on the subject—and then after receiving a committee report against a change in the existing law.

The time has clearly arrived for another investigation, complete with public debate in Parliament. Such action is expected at the next session where Mr. Frank McGee, a Conservative, is reportedly planning to re-introduce the motion to abolish capital punishment which he had previously presented unsuccessfully—along lines framed by Mr. Harold Winch.

When that debate opens it must not be conducted on party lines. This is no political matter. It is a question on which the individual members should be given the utmost liberty to speak as their consciences dictate. And when the vote is taken it must be free.

There are, of course, arguments for and against capital punishment—as the last investigating committee found. But surely there can be no argument whatever for preserving Canada's existing form of execution—the ghastly, barbaric method of hanging a culprit.

That is a relic of an uncivilized era which should find no place in this day and age in this country.

Marx on the Shelf?

ABOUT 100 YEARS AGO, while Karl Marx was writing his classic "Das Kapital" he expressed the view that "nothing can have value without being an object of utility."

The Social Democratic Party of West Germany, meeting in Bad Godesberg early this month, might have applied that measure to Karl Marx and its political future to find him an object of decreasing utility. Marxism, late in 1959, does not produce enough votes to make the party successful at the polls, Germany's Socialists have decided.

The times call for change and the party has altered its program. At Bad Godesberg the Social Democrats emphasized their rejection of communism as a potential enemy of democracy. They also discarded class warfare, hoping to become a national party, not the representatives of one class only.

The party, furthermore, abandoned nationalization as a solution for economic problems and supported a somewhat vaguer concept of "public ownership," with the party leader fixing as a goal a society wherein the individual has the greatest possible freedom and security from restriction and threat.

For Us and for Others

IF ANY JUSTIFICATION WERE needed for camp site development at Goldstream Park—and some people considered it too shady and cold before the work was undertaken—the report of the provincial parks branch has supplied it.

Second only to the well-established Miracle Beach recreation centre, Goldstream was the most popular parks site on Vancouver Island last summer.

Doubtless its attraction will grow as those who have camped there and enjoyed it spread the word to friends.

The parks branch records 105,252 day visitors to Goldstream during the season and 28,720 campers using its 153 camp sites.

Sixty per cent of the visitors were from points in British Columbia, 14 per cent from other parts of Canada and 26 per cent from the United States.

The figures seem to present a desirable picture of this recreational feature. At Goldstream, as elsewhere in the province, the parks branch has created opportunities for outdoor enjoyment that hold a primary appeal for our own people. That same appeal extends to a very large number of visitors from other parts of the continent.

British Columbia campers are, in effect, saying to tourists: "This is what we enjoy. Come and enjoy it with us." The invitation is being accepted.

The fact that no fees are charged makes British Columbia's hospitality all the warmer. There is no reason why our citizens should be charged again for something created from their own funds. And if tourists benefit, how better could money be spent to attract outsiders?

The Toll Is Far Too High

THE NUMBER OF PEOPLE killed on British Columbia streets and highways last month was four below the number killed in November, 1958. The respective totals were 26 and 30.

But for the 11 months of this year, 288 deaths were reported, an increase of 40 over the 11-month total in 1958. Provided the trend continues, it is to be assumed that 1959 will record a blacker year than 1956, when the toll was 316.

This is the story as British Columbia currently observes "Safe Driving Week" at a time when seasonal and climatic conditions made the traffic hazard high. We are now into the period of early darkness and rain, and face the prospects of snow and ice. Visibility is reduced, road surfaces are more dangerous. A casual sampling of accidents indicates what this, coupled with speed, means.

Of 13 fatal accidents selected at random from records this year 11 revealed the fact that people had been killed in crashes occurring in the dark.

The ratio of fatal accidents after dark is out of all proportions to the number of cars on the road at that time.

The inference seems to be clear: Darkness, with reduced visibility and the effect it has on eyes constantly adjusting themselves to the glare of lights, makes safe driving more difficult.

Yet, in British Columbia, prescribed maximum highway speeds permit the same rate of travel at night as in day. The question arises: Should the uniform rate be continued, but at less speed, or should the limit be lowered for night driving only?

If they are to escape widespread public criticism the provincial ministers and departments concerned should give that matter the kind of consideration that leads to quick action.

"Harry doesn't take sides on the fluoridation issue... He just says from now on we're getting our water DIRECT..."

HARK! WHAT WAS THAT?

From Things That Go Bump in the Night

THERE used to be a prayer that asked for preservation from "things that go bump in the night." There must have been a lot of people who thought of it Wednesday evening when a sonic boom shook houses, rattled windows and raised a sudden query in a few thousand Greater Victorian minds. It is interesting to note the reactions. The sudden noise was so enveloping that some had difficulty locating it—it seemed to come from inside the house. This more or less limited the possible causes. But for those who located it outside, there was no limit on speculation as to what had blown up.

It is perhaps a beneficial thing to have a community shaken up now and then by some strange occurrence such as a loud bang in the dark. It stirs people out of their routine and gives them an opportunity to think of what they would do if a real emergency arose.

Step by Step
One of the most interesting reactions is one which you might call the Logical Sequence Complex. It works this way.

A loud bang? That means an explosion. What explodes? Explosives. Where are explosives? James Island. If James Island blew up what would you see? A glow in the sky. What do you see in the direction of James Island? A glow in the sky.

The loud bang is thus explained. There are two intriguing mental shifts in this one. If there is a glow over the island, that confirms that there must have been an explosion there. If there is no glow, then the aroused belief that there was an explosion will help you to see a glow anyway.

Whatever the evidence, you come up with the same result. It's a triumph of mind over matter.

The impact of an event like that on Victoria is all the greater because such things happen here so rarely. The amazing mechanism of a human being can quickly accustom itself to bumps in the night. The people of London very soon took nightly bombing in their stride, although of course in their case they were not plagued by uncertainty as to what the noises were. They knew all too well.

What? Where? Why?
Victorians' first thought was to phone in somewhere and find out the cause. That plugged telephone lines to important centres such as the police station, and as the police chief has pointed out, such jamming could seriously hinder work that might need to be done.

What would happen in the event of a real disaster, not just a loud noise? It is fairly safe to predict that communications would be stalled by anxious enquirers and traffic near the scene would be stalled by curious folk wanting to see what was going on.

Human beings in a crowd can form a relentless and merciless mass-being. Still fresh in mind is a drowning last summer—was it in Ontario?—where inquisitive sightseers swarming in prevented first-aiders from properly carrying out artificial respiration and may have contributed to the death of the victim.

Only recently here ambulance men complained that onlookers hampered them in their work at a traffic accident. The prairie herds of bison dully trampling a fallen member of the herd acted in much the same spirit—and with the same effect.

For Our Benefit
There is one aspect of our sonic boom that does not seem to have occurred to many people.

A certain amount of resentment has been felt at those Americans sending their jet planes over our nice Canadian city and disturbing us with a noise. But let's face it—those planes are just as much Victoria's as they are Seattle's. They are Victoria's protection against enemy attack, part of the continental defence to which both Canada and the United States contribute as partners.

If the team wants to practise near our city it might be a good idea to give them a full welcome. We might be glad enough to have them some day, and there might not be much left of us if they weren't available. It's better to be bumped awake than bumped off.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Really Outstanding

I have read your editorial about Archbishop Charbonneau. I felt very happy to read such nice things about him, and personally I thank you for it.

Both he and Duplessis died nearly at the same time. I wish I had been in heaven for their first meeting there.

The expressions "relieved" and "removed" are not quite correct. He was asked to offer his resignation, and he did; another bishop in the same case was also asked his resignation and did not offer it. He was not "removed" to Victoria; that was his own choice.

I admire him for what he did, so correctly, in these hard circumstances. I regret very much his death. Yes, he was really outstanding.

Birth Control

With regard to Dr. Chisholm's words that the Roman Catholic Church is preventing spread of birth control by artificial means in backward, populous nations:

Certainly the church is trying to prevent the type of degrading "action" desired by the doctor. In effect he wants to give them food and medicine, let them live, but do not teach them to be responsible for their deeds.

If prevention of birth is necessary there should be personal sacrifice on the part of parents. Humans were not meant to have their cake and eat it too, and still be satisfied.

Frightened of world "over population," Chisholm, Toynbee and others must surely, in their Godlessness, see eventual necessity of either doing away with human reproduction (limited reproduction would lead only to bitter chaos because humans and nations are jealous of offspring) or doing away with another old person as each baby is born.

Pope John XXIII, a humble man, reminds us that ignorance is sin. Catholics are well aware of the horrible ignorance among its own members today, as in the past.

Ignorance among the population will not even ability to read, made it possible for England's Henry VIII to break laws of the church (which then contained more of Henry's ilk) so that he might rid himself first of one woman then of four more. The church stood behind the first woman, as it stands for dignity and right of the individual today.

Parents should realize the purpose and beauty of marital relations and should pass the knowledge to their children. Widespread use of contraceptives makes a joke of marriage, and if I can take some women's quotes as being indicative, leads to less desire (generally called "coldness" or "frigidity") on the part of wives.

Dr. Chisholm's kind will continue to attack Catholicism. The church seldom replies in kind. Bitter words lead only to more bitterness and loss of reason. Thinking Catholics understand Chisholm's reasoning.

However, his words deter many, and it seems sad that such a learned man as he continues to butt his head against that rock of ages, the ever-growing wisdom of the Catholic Church.

VIRGINIA FAIR.

Yea Team!

During the years that I have resided in Victoria I had the idea that the public here was more sports minded than in the average Canadian city. But this season, seeing every hockey game at home, I realize how hard Hal Laycoe is trying to give the Cougars public support.

He has a team superior to any in Victoria's history, but there is still the moral support lacking from the public.

Religion, treats of spiritual truths,

The game I saw played here between the Vancouver Canucks and the Cougars ended in a tie but I'm certain would have ended in a victory for Victoria if they had some moral support from the public.

In the game with Seattle on Nov. 28, the Cougars got the victory after playing their hearts out to give Victoria a team to be proud of. They would continue to give their best if the public would wake up to the fact that it has a team here as good as any team in NHL. I'm hoping the public will get let these boys down.

Sortie Into Never-Never

By MICHAEL FRAYN

WE left Stepney at about 9 p.m., and swept out along the Mile End Road and the Southend arterial road into Essex, to fall upon the county, like border-raiders, under cover of darkness.

We might have been a couple of carloads of mobsters, driving out of town to shoot up the man who done the boss wrong. And, in fact, we were out to wreck a sort of private vengeance: we were the bandits of never-never land, the bogymen of the capitalist night, the spectre at the feast of easy terms. We were the repossession men.

We were out after ten cars in the Basildon area on which the hire-purchase instalments had fallen overdue. Provided the hirer has not paid two-thirds of the purchase price there are no holds barred in repossession.

The finance company is supposed to warn the hirer before it issues a repossession order, but it often does not in case he hides the goods. Once the order is made, the repossession men have carte blanche to snatch the car on sight without any reference to the hirer, or to immobilize it until they can come back and collect it.

It is not much use leaving the car locked, because the repossession men will not hesitate to break into it, short-circuit the ignition switch, or to tow it away locked. It is not really much use, either, to hide the car away at a friend's, because your neighbors, who love you as themselves and know what is best for you, will almost certainly give you away.

As we trailed round the wilderness of new streets, sent on from address to address by people only too anxious to denounce their neighbors ("It's that little touch of malice that does it," said Mr. Smith), it became clear that all the cars on the list had been returned to the dealer a month before.

"He's either just about to go into liquidation," said Mr. Smith, "or just about to get on his bicycle. We'll go round and turn his stuff over on Sunday."

Wide Field

The men work for half a dozen different finance companies, and fetch cars from all over the London area—they have even been up to Manchester for one or two. The charge is five guineas a car.

They work at night, when the cars are usually parked at home, often through until four in the morning.

Most of the cars are derelict by the time they are repossessed: the hirers have usually paid almost nothing at all on them, driven them until they needed repairing, and then abandoned them.

You get an odd insight into society seeing it from the repossession men's angle. The malice people have against their neighbors is the most striking thing: for the first time you can start to see how informer networks grow up and flourish in the police states.

Another thing is the odd relations that must exist between car dealers and their customers. If you can find one of the hirers you are looking for in a district, he can often lead you to all the others.

The principle works in reverse too: If you snatch one car in a district all the other cars you want disappear like chaff before the wind. A money dealer's phone—customers all know one another.

No Right To Be Heard

Alderman Edgelow's complaint about being refused permission to speak at our campaign meeting in the Lower Crystal Garden last Wednesday, November 25, is pure nonsense.

He was refused permission by myself in the afternoon of the day the meeting was held.

He and Mayor Scourrah even refused a question period at their meeting two nights before ours. Does Alderman Edgelow think he should have the right to walk around to every other candidate's meeting demanding time to speak? If he had no more to offer than was reported in the paper when he spoke at council meeting last Thursday, the five hundred or more people at our meeting missed nothing by his absence from the platform.

C.S. Chest Support

The news item in the Saturday evening, November 28 issue of the Times, concerning contributions to the Community Chest by the provincial civil servants is incorrect.

Our contribution last year was low due to the fact that we were not to be canvassed in the Buildings and therefore the majority of the residential canvassers through the residential canvassers. It was only at the last minute, when the quota was not being reached, that a hasty collection of the Buildings was made, and as previously stated, by that time, the majority of us had given our donations privately.

Therefore, although it is not listed as such, I am sure the civil servants supported the drive last year equally as well as they have done this year.

A CIVIL SERVANT

Panhandlers Crush My Ego

PANHANDLERS give me an inferiority complex. One caught me at the bus transfer point on Johnson yesterday. His approach was orthodox — the friendly smile that makes you think maybe you should know the guy, but can't lay a name to him.

Stott

That fixed me so I stopped. Then he made his pitch — a "hello" in the notes of long lost friendship followed by the confidential "Say, I wonder if you could help me out?"

"How?" I asked. "Coffee money, p'raps?" he answered. It so happened that I had two nickels and a penny only in my pants pocket. I gave my change to him, thinking that while it wouldn't buy the big "dignified" 20-cent size, it would purchase a small one. A little wryly I also thought the penny amounted to just the 10 per cent tip that used to be acceptable to and accepted by waiters at Oktoberfests. I hoped he wouldn't try to offer it to anyone this far away from a Berlin garden.

No sooner had I crossed the street than another gentleman approached me with a sunny smile and an inquiry about my health. Again I wondered if we were casual acquaintances and if my memory was slipping worse than I thought. I hate to be in the position of appearing to be known but not knowing, so I made the bold advance.

"Do we know each other?" I asked. "We ought to," he replied. "We're both human beings, aren't we?" There's a stopper for you. Actually there are quite a number of the two-and-three-quarter billion human beings on this earth whom I don't know.

While I was puzzling this out, he grinned ruefully and asked: "Say, could you do me a favor?" By then I was cagey, so I answered "What?"

"Well," he said, pulling a handful of small change from his pocket — not very much small change, mind you, but a couple of nickels and dimes and maybe a quarter or two — "I'd like to eat and I was wonder-

Quite honestly I told him I'd given my last change to another chap on the corner and my bus providentially arrived to provide a means of escape.

But I wasn't happy. Even if I became softer in the heart than I am in the head, I know the panhandling routine from old days on the police beat.

There used to be a trio of rubby-dubs who worked on Douglas at Johnson and at Humboldt. Their procedure was to cadge nickels, dimes and the infrequent quarter off passers-by until they had the 85 cents they needed for a bottle of "goof" we named after a prominent politician of the day. They'd spike it occasionally with canned heat and I'd meet them when I was covering court. There they proved unwillingly that "mony a nickel makes a knucklehead."

The experience makes a person a little cynical about panhandlers. It makes him ask himself to what extent he should be his brother's keeper — particularly when he seems to be keeping his brother in beer or "goof."

But cynical or not, a man still has his conscience. And if he remembers the depression days, he'll recall a lot of young fellows who were on the bum through no wish of their own. They'd left home to look for work. They frequently didn't find it. And they were hungry.

I've been temporarily broke a long way from home. But I've never gone a full day without a meal. I've been in a quandary when I refuse a handout to anyone because I think the supplicant's just a little thirsty and I'd do him more good to get over the thirst than pamper it.

Also, like most fathers, when the person involved is relatively young, I can't help thinking that there, under certain circumstances, could be my own son a long way from his family and desperately in need of a square meal.

On the other hand, it does little good to buy a beer for a stranger just because he has the crust to ask for it. I'd just as soon buy a beer for a friend.

Only I wish I could get over the self-reproach which afflicts me when I've played it realistically and been tough.

Man begs, said a distinguished philosopher. And who's to judge?

FEDERATION

OR INDEPENDENCE?

Race Crisis on Boil

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—The crisis in Britain's three central African territories — Southern and Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland — is building up.

The simple issue is: Will Britain's project for the independent Central African Federation — founded in 1953 — succeed or fail?

Success would mean a new Commonwealth state would arise in the strategic, mineral-rich heart of Africa. A living example of black-white partnership would offer an alternative to the white supremacy policy of neighboring South Africa.

Failure would lead white-ruled Southern Rhodesia to link up politically with South Africa. In time the nationalism of these southern whites would clash with the ever-rising nationalism of the northern Negroes. The world's first all-out race war might follow, some British ministers believe.

The drama is being played out in both the sun-drenched bushlands of the federation and the Parliament.

The federation was intended to weld the Rhodesias and Nyasaland into a single independent state.

Its 300,000 whites now wield political power over 7,000,000 Negroes. Its premier, Sir Roy Welensky, a one-time prize fighter, is a socialist-turned-conservative.

The status of the federation will be reviewed next year.

The whites want to be given full powers to manage their own affairs, including the destinies of their Negro countrymen.

The Negroes oppose federation, regarding it as a way of ensuring white supremacy. Earlier this year Nyasalanders began campaigning for independence and against federation. Amid charges they were plotting an anti-white massacre, their leaders were jailed and their country placed under emergency rule. This situation still exists.

Prime Minister Macmillan's government has been searching for a middle way between the extremes of white and Negro demands.

To prepare for the 1960 review of the constitution, Macmillan has set up an independent commission. Donald Creighton, University of Toronto history professor, was one of the men named to this commission.

But Welensky has refused to work with the commission if its powers include the right to investigate a solution other than federation. The opposition Laborite party in Britain have refused to work with the commission unless it can seek a non-federal solution.

EZRA TAFT BENSON ... gall bladder removed.

Operation Successful

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson underwent surgery today for removal of his gall bladder.

He was reported "in good post-operative condition" at Walter Reed Army Medical Centre.

It was performed by Army Surgeon General Leonard D. Heaton who operated on President Eisenhower for ileitis in June, 1956.

Benson is expected to remain in hospital for 10 days or two weeks.

All Candidates Go 'On Stage' At Forum Tonight

Victoria voters are expected to jam Central Junior High School tonight at 8 for a real live preview of their Dec. 10 civic ballot.

The annual Junior Chamber of Commerce public forum of civic candidates is expected to draw a full house in the 2,000-seat school auditorium for the "best forum ever held here," officials said.

TOP STARS

The free show's top stars will be the three mayoralty candidates — Mayor Percy Scurren and J. Donald Smith, who have been slugging it out for weeks, and dark horse entry Robert Macmillan, who jumped into the contest minutes before nominations closed Thursday.

All three will have 15 minutes each to outline their platforms at the forum.

The 12 candidates for four aldermanic seats will have five minutes each to give their election pitch.

Mr. Macmillan, 36-year-old motel and restaurant operator who served six years as an alderman until his defeat in 1955, said he was contesting the mayoralty because he could not conscientiously support either of the other two candidates.

'LAST AVENUE'

"The only alternative was to take the last avenue open and express myself by running for office," he said.

"I had hoped until the last minute someone I could support would come forward. I think some were over-awed by the expensive campaigning going on."

He said, if elected, he would introduce a "save-as-you-go" plan and discard the present policy of using up city land assets for capital expenditures. "When they use revenue from the tax sales land account for new capital works and say this doesn't cost the taxpayers anything, that is not the strict truth," he said.

Sale of city lands was depleting a major asset which one day would be totally lost unless part of the proceeds was diverted into a special capital development fund.

Mr. Macmillan said he would

COMMONWEALTH NATIONS STICK TOGETHER

'We're Against Apartheid' ... But,' Says Minister

Canada was criticized for not joining in condemnation of racial segregation in South Africa "but I think we did the right thing," External Affairs Minister Howard Green said here Thursday.

He was commenting at a press conference on the recent action of Canadian UN representatives in abstaining from a vote of censure to the sister nation of the Commonwealth.

"Each year a resolution is brought in condemning South Africa, and it has had no effect. Canada has either voted with South Africa or has abstained," he said.

"We are against apartheid as much as those who voted against it, but we think we can do more with South Africa by not attacking them. If we go around condemning another Commonwealth country, we can't do much with them. We've been criticized but I think we did the right thing."

'NUCLEAR WAR'

The external affairs minister commented also on the proposal that world disarmament might never work because it would be almost impossible to inspect each country's arms and be certain some hidden nuclear warfare device did not still exist.

"The alternative to the disarmament committee's work would be a nuclear war ... if there is a will, it will be worked out."

The minister sidestepped a question as to whether he personally favored birth control as a world measure to stem the rising populations before the universe faces starvation. "I'm not in that business," replied the 64-year-old statesman.

Prize 'Payola' Outlawed

NEW YORK (AP)—The practice of charging manufacturers for using their products as television quiz show prizes runs to uncounted thousands of dollars, a TV industry source said Thursday.

In many cases, this supplemental income even equals or exceeds payment received from the primary sponsor of the show, the spokesman said.

In its latest cleanup move, the Columbia Broadcasting System has outlawed this practice, beginning next Jan. 1. All prizes must be paid for out of the show's budget.

Loot on various shows includes household appliances, cameras, clothing and vacation trips.

Exactly how much manufacturers pay for the prize privilege was not disclosed. But if the same donors were billed for the amount of air time used in the product identification "it would run into thousands," a source said.

NBC, for example, charges $19,000 for a one-minute spot commercial during "prime" evening hours.

Stavanger in Norway, 100 miles south of Bergen, has a cathedral dating from the 11th century.

Muted Cries Of Maimed Heard Here

By TONY DICKASON

The ugly picture of a diseased and starving Asia was etched in black lines here Thursday by a small, uniformed woman whose life is a dynamic Christian mission of mercy.

It was a harsh challenging picture; one that shocks complacency.

From the wide stage in Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Services Committee, raised her little voice—not at all suited to a large hall—in a plea to alleviate human suffering in the Far East.

Faces in the audience of 250 mirrored the impact of her message.

Succinctly, it was this: Invest in life. The words "death" and "disease" so common today they have lost much of their meaning, in the gentle yet zealous presentation of Dr. Hitschmanova, take on implications that make the far lands of India, China and Korea seem actually touchable.

It's a little boy without a leg. He stepped on a land mine. It's a little girl without a left hand. It was amputated because of gangrene. It's the piteous, twisted expression on the face of a mother, pleading for food, not for herself, but for her babies.

Open Door to Better Tomorrow

The Victoria Times, for the seventh year, is helping Dr. Hitschmanova collect for her USC work. Her address, "The Magic Keys," touched off the Christmas appeal.

These "keys" which will open the door to a better tomorrow amongst the hungry of the Far East she listed as sensitivities to the needs of others, concern for these people, a sense of responsibility, intelligence to take action and money.

The specific project envisaged through the Times is a rehabilitation centre for the 150 war-crippled children in Seoul's Sam Yook home. It will cost $15,000.

In the home are three armless children, eight children with their two legs off at the knees; 10 with both legs off above the knees; 35 with paralysis . . . and on, and on.

This is just a small portion of the USC program in 11 countries. Objective this year is the highest the doctor has ever set, $250,000.

Of this, $70,000 is still needed.

"I shudder to think what will happen if this is not met," she said quietly.

Recently returned from a 99-day 33,000-mile trip visiting USC projects in the Far East, she told several personalized stories—obsessive in their stark simplicity.

At 7 in the morning, lines of children in the Madras slums waiting for their "life-saving" bowl of Canadian barley gruel, with the hard blue sky thrusting down heat already in the 90s; yellow skin stretched over fleshless bones; a family of seven who sleep on the pavement at night.

Hunger so drastic—and Dr. Hitschmanova vouches for this—a wife cut a portion of flesh off her arm to feed her tubercular husband.

Smugness Detected in Canada

In Hong Kong there are 250,000 persons in "resettlement" blocks. The blocks are a collection of cubicles, with six families per cubicle.

"People are born and die, on mattresses side by side."

She said their is a smugness in Canada about conditions elsewhere, perhaps excusable to a point, but stemming directly from "lack of knowledge."

In this connection, she praised "the men who stand behind the Times," for their "world outlook."

Her voice broke at one point: Wednesday she received word that stocks of surplus powdered Canadian milk which the USC has been distributing have run out.

"There will be little children waiting at the roadside, day after day, wondering what has happened."

TE, which the USC is battling on all fronts, is Korea's No. 1 peacetime killer. Fifty cents a day will look after a patient.

The USC operates 26 children's homes in India and Korea. Cost per child is $84 a year. "Foster" parents adopt these children and regular reports are sent them on the child's progress.

"What a miracle it is to transform the life of a little one!"

Another current USC project is layettes for Arab refugee babies.

The United Nations asked the organization to undertake this, and of the 25,000 needed, 18,000 have so far been supplied.

"Literally thousands" of layette pieces were made by volunteers on Vancouver Island, said a grateful Dr. Hitschmanova, and 100 complete sets made by girls of Victoria high schools.

(Dr. Hitschmanova singled King Edward VII, who died in 1910, spent at least three months abroad every year besides continual travel in Britain.

A FORMER VICTORIA naval officer, Commodore Rupert A. Wright, has been promoted to the rank of rear-admiral, the department of national defence announced Thursday.

Japan's resentment is secret because its government's policy in this and in economic affairs is to avoid antagonizing any good foreign customer like Canada. But Prime Minister Kishi mentioned the subject obliquely to me, his officials discussed it dispassionately when I pressed them and at a dinner of leading businessmen in Osaka the thing came to the surface, so to speak, in reverse.

"You cannot humiliate us," said one of Japan's greatest industrialists, "by refusing to let any of us into Canada. Understand that we Japanese consider ourselves racially, mentally and in every other way the equal of any people in the world. We may be wrong but that's what we think. Why should we be humiliated?"

The practical business proposition will soon emerge.

By husbanding its hard currency Japan is able to invest some of it abroad, is investing at the rate of $100 millions a year and already, though only 14 years from the total ruin of the war, has amassed foreign investments of about $300 millions.

Interests Spread Around the World

It is developing its own oil supplies in the Middle East, a huge mining project in India, iron, and shipbuilding industries in Brazil, a pulp mill in Alaska, and lately an electronics factory in Ireland. Now it proposes to start small industries in Canada, if the Canadian Government will allow them.

One such pilot project, which was outlined to me in detail but in confidence, is now nearing a stage of decision, and the decision will rest finally with the Canadian Government.

Naturally, the Government would normally favor any investment certain to employ Canadian workers and increase the nation's wealth, as it well comes British, American and other foreign capital. But the Japanese schemes involve another and much more difficult factor.

If Japan is to establish valuable industries here, like those established in other foreign nations, it must be able to employ a few Japanese managers and expert technicians.

All but a few of the workers in the proposed plants would be Canadian, all their expenditures, except the net profits, would remain in Canada, but no Japanese company is likely to sink its money here unless its business can be managed by its own experienced executives and its labor force trained by its highly expert technicians.

Ottawa Faced With Tough Decision

Hence the decision which must soon be made in Ottawa—should Canada admit the handful of Japanese essential to these new industries as it admits the nationals of Western nations under the same conditions?

That issue, as I learned in Tokyo, already is before the Canadian government, tentatively and unofficially. A larger issue will have to be faced before long.

Until now the Japanese government has not uttered the slightest official protest against Canada's virtual prohibition on Japanese immigration.

This vague hit-and-miss system is satisfactory to nobody, and least of all to the immigration authorities who suspect frequent fraud among the Chinese and are currently investigating it, through the RCMP at Hong Kong.

From Japan we are admitting a few children, parents and other relatives of Canadian Japanese but we are not getting the business executives, the technical experts and the Japanese investment that would help to build up our industry. And so far as immigration is concerned, we are not promoting good relations with our third foreign customer, our only great ally in Asia.

Both Sides Claim Seamen Signed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) said Thursday it has signed half the seamen working on west coast ships.

President, Richard Greaves said the brotherhood has enrolled 450 men in a total working force of about 900 and "most were won from the Seafarers' International Union."

Commented Norm Cunningham, ham, Vancouver port agent for the independent SIU: "Ballyhoo... there are 2,000 seamen on this coast and we have all but about 200."

The question of the relative standing of the rival unions arose Thursday when SIU members on the Canadian Pacific steamship service between here and Vancouver Island ran a newspaper advertisement indicating they will stick with the SIU despite CBRT raiding efforts.

Mr. Greaves has made it clear the CBRT is going after the seamen. He said the employees of the competing Black Ball ferries and "every company on the west coast."

Mr. Justice Thomas W. Brown is expected to rule in B.C. Supreme Court today on an SIU application for an injunction forcing Westward Shipping Ltd. to fire a number of men who went over to the CBRT.

Seaway Shuts, Last Vessel Clears Locks

OTTAWA (CP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway was closed to commercial traffic at dusk Thursday.

The Seaway Authority said the last vessel out of the 112-mile system was the Rockcliffe Hall, a 2,200-ton Canadian canal which cleared the St. Lambert lock at 4:40 p.m. downbound to Montreal with a cargo of wheat.

In all, 13 vessels cleared the system Thursday.

Although the canal locks now are closed as far as regular shipping is concerned, they probably will remain open for another few days to accommodate two transport department tenders now lifting buoys out of the seaway.

SIU CLOSES LOCAL OFFICE

Victoria office of the Seafarers' International Union has been closed. It was disclosed when the office space in the Labor Hall, Pandora Street, was put up for rent this week.

Closure was hailed by a rival union, the Canadian Transport and General Workers, as a victory. Said B.C. regional representative Vernon Calkins: "It's quite obvious the SIU has nothing to do now in Victoria. We've got the members—they haven't."

TB SEALS SNAPPED UP

DUNCAN — Annual Christmas TB seal campaign, sponsored by Duncan Kiwanis, has realized a total of $1,884 to date, chairman Robert Corney announced today. Figures are running well ahead of those of last year, he said.

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN WHAT A REAL CIGARETTE TASTES LIKE?

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Hold the Phone!
COWICHAN LEADER—It would be an appropriate gesture by B.C. Telephone Co. to give the communities in this area free-calling privileges instead of charging for them.

The company is at present enjoying a healthy revenue position, as the result of last increases granted by the federal Board of Transport Commissioners. This area of its extensive operation has rarely, if ever, been in the forefront of telephone development.

The firm may retaliate to this suggestion by saying that the price of newspapers is high. Unfortunately this is true but at least people have a choice of what newspaper they want; they have only one telephone service available.

The telephone company provides a vital service. In return it secures practically a guaranteed income from a Crown rate-setting organization. In this respect the company, a private one, with international affiliations, differs from the vast majority of other private companies, which are dependent entirely on market conditions.

Job for Minister

SIDNEY REVIEW—Minister of Recreation for the government of British Columbia is Hon. Earle Westwood. He sits in the legislature as representative for the Nanaimo and Gulf Islands constituency. The minister could combine both roles by causing his photographic department to make a film depicting the pleasures of fishing and camping throughout the Gulf Islands.

Not long ago we were privileged to see a provincial government film, "Tight Lines" which has been widely acclaimed. It shows many famous B.C. fishing waters. In our opinion a similar film showing scenes in various Gulf Islands waters would prove most popular and would go a long way in publicizing the islands wherever it is shown.

Odd Philosophy

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS—The recent RCMP raid on a P.T.A.'s bingo game must have set many people wondering what—if any—is our attitude to gambling.

What is the philosophy of a government which, on the one hand, calls bingo illegal and endorses, if it didn't actually order the action of the police in raiding a bingo game and, on the other, charges entertainment tax for the same game played under other circumstances.

How many habitual criminals in the persons of bingo players have we in our midst? How many multiple offenders?

The government's attitude towards liquor is another which raises the question of its philosophy.

Some of its individual members have no time for liquor and think it evil. As a group, the government shows that it does not approve of liquor by making advertisements of beers, wines and spirits state beneath their advertisements that the advertising is not insured by the government.

But the excise tax on liquor? The sales tax on liquor? Different things again.

AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Renowned Organist Here Tonigh

The renowned European organist, Felke Asma, appears in recital tonight at Christ Church Cathedral.

Holland-born Asma gives 200 recitals annually with a total audience of well over 100,000 people. He is recording organist on Philips and Dureco labels and at the present time reigns over the 200-year-old organ in the Lutheran Church at The Hague, Holland.

This brilliant artist, who at the age of 12 had learned everything his organist-choir master father could teach him, is currently on a North American tour.

His program for tonight includes a Bach Toccata and Fugue and an improvisation on Netherlands folk tunes, a brilliant Liszt concert number and works by other well-known organ composers.

Preservation of the scenic north shore of Cowichan Bay from further industrial development in the vicinity of Green Point was promised Thursday by North Cowichan council.

Building Activity Falls Off

NORTH COWICHAN — Building totals in the municipality are running well below last year.

Figures released today show that permits totalling $762,257 have been issued in the first 11 months of the year compared to $1,083,656 in the same period last year.

Permits issued by the municipality last month totalled $54,738 compared to $43,035 in November last year.

Permits issued last month included: six for new residential dwellings, totalling $44,000; six for residential repairs, totalling $7,150; one for commercial repairs, $2,000; eight for work valued at less than $500.

Another Victoria lawyer, William R. McIntyre, will represent the school board.

Victoria teacher Mrs. Hazel Hodson will speak for the teachers.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

City Challenges Lord's Day Act

(From CP Dispatches)

PRINCE GEORGE—This northern B.C. city is quietly testing the controversial Lord's Day Act: RCMP announced in mid-October the law would be more strictly enforced here. The city has retaliated by continuing its practice of charging admission at Sunday hockey games in the city-owned Coliseum.

RCMP gathered evidence of illegal ticket selling last weekend at the first Sunday game of the season. Reports on this, and any future Sunday activity contravening the act, will be sent to the attorney-general's department, which will decide if charges are to be laid.

Mayor Carrie Jane Gray said she thought commercial Sunday sport to be "perfectly harmless."

VANCOUVER—A government-supervised strike ballot is being conducted by mail among 13 members of the International Union of Operating Engineers (I.O.E.) who operate cranes on Dominion Bridge Company projects.

The men recently rejected the majority decision of a conciliation board which recommended an increase of 56 cents an hour in their hourly wage of $2.62. A strike would tie up construction of the Second Narrows Bridge.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Garth Robert Allison, charged with the murder of an Oakalla Prison guard, has been transferred to the provincial mental hospital.

A provincial government order in council authorizing the transfer from jail said that Allison is mentally ill.

The 30-year-old logger is charged with the shooting of Harold Cordova, father of two children, who was found dead in his home in nearby Port Coquitlam. Police said he had been shot with a .30-06-calibre rifle.

VANCOUVER—An RCMP officer who was seriously injured when his car skidded on ice at Telkwa, 210 miles west of Prince George, was picked up and brought here by an RCAF mercy plane Thursday night.

Staff Sgt. J. E. Rutten, who suffered a broken hip and other injuries in the accident, was taken to Shaughnessy Hospital on arrival here.

The plane, with a doctor and nurse aboard, picked him up at Smithers.

PRINCETON—The body of a man was found Thursday in the wreckage of a jeep on the Hope-Princeton highway nine miles west of here. RCMP said the jeep apparently plunged over a 65-foot embankment 48 hours before. Name of the man, about 40, was not released.

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Ada Gibson, 70, fell to her death Thursday from a sixth-floor window of a Kitsilano area apartment building. Police said she had been living with a sister-in-law since the death of her husband about a year ago.

DRIVER PHONES COURT TO SAY HE 'SLEPT IN'

(From Duncan Bureau)

Robert Geoffrey Follows, 22, of Victoria, who turned up late at Duncan police court Thursday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention, was convicted by Magistrate A. C. Sutton and fined $25.

Follows, scheduled to appear at 9.30 a.m., called Duncan RCMP at 10.15 a.m. from his home in Victoria to report he had "slept in."

The RCMP corporal acting for the Crown told Follows over the phone that by "driving at the speed limit you should be in court by one minute past noon. If you're not here there will be a warrant for your arrest."

ISLAND DIGEST

PARTY FOR RETARDED KIDDIES

'Open House' Set At Arcadian School

(From Duncan Bureau)

A request for a Christmas tree and party for six retarded children of the Arcadian School was granted by the Cowichan School District 65 board of trustees Thursday.

The usual Christmas grants were approved, ranging from $7.50 for a one-room school to $5 per room for larger elementary schools.

Arcadian School is holding "open house" December 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. Social welfare, public health and school board officials have been issued invitations.

New courses include ceramics, taught by Mrs. S. A. Gorle, Sherman Road, and physical education, taught by Mrs. G. F. Frisch, Crofton.

IS HE THINKING IT OVER?

Week Off Taken By Pet Poisoner

(From Duncan Bureau)

Has Duncan's pet poisoner gone underground, moved his scene of operation, been frightened off, or decided he has caused enough grief and heartbreak?

Although there has been no new outbreak since last Friday, RCMP and the SPCA are continuing their investigation into the poisoning of 17 dogs within four weeks.

Fourteen dogs died of poisoning. Three others treated by a veterinarian immediately after showing symptoms of strychnine poisoning are recovering.

Various theories have been advanced for the cause of the outbreak of poisonings. Crows are suggested as possible carriers. Slug killers for garden use have also been blamed. SPCA officials, however, believe that strychnine administered in an unknown manner caused the deaths.

Duncan SPCA Inspector Harold Orrick warned that there was a two-week lapse between the first and second poisoning reports, and has urged dog owners to continue to keep a watchful eye on their pets, "until we are sure this thing is stopped. We want to catch whoever or whatever is responsible and we certainly don't want any more poisonings."

Two Victoria SPCA officials assisted with the investigation here earlier in the week.

in the Peace River area of northeast British Columbia could start in 1961 if a report shows a pulp industry is economically practical.

Bernard Gore, managing director of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company, said Thursday a preliminary study shows the industry is feasible. The company, which represents millionaire Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren, will make its decision when a final report is received later this month, Mr. Gore said.

He indicated more than one mill is under consideration but declined to give details.

"There is no doubt it will be built," he said, "but I cannot say where or when."

If plans materialized, the company would apply for a tree farm licence in the area. It was probable some of the wood supply for a mill would come from timber lands which will be flooded by a proposed $611,000,000 hydro-electric development on the Peace River.

An associated company, Peace River Power Development Company, announced Wednesday it will launch the hydro project as soon as government approval is received.

UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES SUFFERING?

GATT Will Probe Trade Curbs

WASHINGTON (CP)—Farm protective policies of the United States, Canada and other industrialized countries will be thoroughly investigated by the 40-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

E. W. White, GATT executive secretary, also says the organization will initiate a deep inquiry into the extent of restrictions in the industrialized countries against imports of manufactured goods from the under-developed areas.

India, which has been trying hard to get bigger markets in North America and Europe for textile and other industries, has hinted she may turn her back on GATT if import restrictions against her are not eliminated.

White, London-born economist and lawyer, stopped off in Washington on his way to Geneva from Tokyo where a GATT "directors' meeting" was concluded last month.

Generally, he looks to the future with optimism, he said Thursday. Despite the growth of regional blocs, the world appears to be on the road to freer trade.

Will It Shine Saturday?

Saturday afternoon to decide provincial high school crown. Kicking of Gilmour, Oak Bay captain who accounted for 31 points in two-game city final against Victoria High, could prove deciding factor. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

'RIDICULOUS INJUNCTION'

They Must Go Home To Depart on Trip

LILLEHAMMER, Norway (AP)—Six Australian speed skaters, training in Norway for the 1960 Winter Olympics at their own expense, Thursday were ordered back to Australia.

"There will be no Australian entries in Squaw Valley unless they leave from Australia," a telegram from the Australian Speed Skating Union said.

Colin Hickey, who heads the Australian team, said the injunction seemed ridiculous. He said a return to Australia would cost the team and the union a lot more money than going directly to the United States from Europe for the Games, at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Boot May Hold Key to Throne

A modest, 17-year-old athlete with an all-round interest in all school activities may hold the key to a provincial championship for Oak Bay High.

The key, as Oak Bay sits on the threshold waiting for Saturday's provincial high school rugby final at Carnarvon Park, is in the boot of Doug Gilmour, a well-groomed student regarded as one of the finest place-kickers developed in the city in recent years.

It's unlikely that Vancouver's challengers, David Thompson High, will shut out Oak Bay. For if points are needed, Gilmour knows how to get them.

TEAM PLAYER

The dark-haired Oak Bay captain found points a commodity easy to acquire in the city playoff against Victoria High for the Howard Russell Trophy. Gilmour scored 31 points in the two-game series, but six coming off his accurate foot.

"That performance in the city final," coach Norm Oliver confided, "almost embarrassed him. He's completely unselfish and a wonderful team player."

But scoring heroics are nothing new to Gilmour, a school prefect, member of the students' council and Hi-Y Boys' Service Club.

MOST VALUABLE

It was Gilmour who also beat Vic High in a dramatic three-game series a year ago. The city final narrowed down to a third and deciding game, and then down to an overtime period, before Gilmour stepped up to boot a penalty goal with five minutes remaining to defeat the Vics.

His performance, plus all-around popularity and ability, earned him the Reg Sinclair Memorial Trophy, awarded each year to the most valuable player on the Oak Bay team.

And from the looks of it, he may be forced to polish that coveted trophy for another year.

THIRD STRAIGHT TRY

The outside centre stands out on a team that is generally regarded as one of the best-balanced squads ever to challenge for the provincial title.

Oliver, rugby tutor at Oak Bay for the last 11 years, leads his charges into the B.C. final for a third straight year. Beaten by Vancouver's Lord Byng in the past two, Oliver is confident this is the Bays' big year.

He bases his optimism on a solid front line and an exciting and effective backfield, which is what David Thompson players will find waiting for them when teams line up Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

FOUR STARS DEMOTED . . .

Matt Tears Up 'Blue Ribbons'

MANCHESTER, England (CP)—Manager Matt Busby Thursday shook up Manchester United's lineup, demoting four of the biggest names on soccer's blue-ribbon club to the reserve side.

The victims, all internationals, are goalkeeper Harry Gregg, wing-half Wilf Mo-

Guinness, inside forward Bobby Charlton and winger Warren

Bradley. Gregg is Ireland's first-string goalkeeper. The others have been in and out of the England side.

Two of the replacements in Saturday's home game against Blackpool, goalkeeper David

Gashell and halfback Shay Brennan, are newcomers to the

First Division team. The forwards, Alex Dawson and Mark

Pearson, have been up before.

Busby's action followed the club's 2-1 defeat by lowly Everton last Saturday, which left Manchester United halfway

Rangers Had Fun on 'Harvey Night'

New Yorkers

By The Canadian Press

The bigger they are, the harder they fall.

Montreal Canadiens know this today.

Thursday night New York Rangers, deep in the second division, rose up and smote the National Hockey League's giants, 7-4.

Rangers, not generally considered the top artists in their field, put on quite a performance for "Doug Harvey Night" in the Montreal Forum. They skated Canadiens into the ice and ran up their biggest goal total of the season.

And they did it without any scoring help from Andy Bathgate.

DEFENCE WEAK

The Canadian defence was leaky from the start and collapsed completely in the later stages. Harvey, whose illustrious career gained formal recognition in between-period ceremonies, was outfoxed on two goals.

Rangers' attack was led by left-wingers Dean Prentice and Eddie Shack, with two goals apiece.

Defencemen: John Hanna, centre Larry Popein and right-winger Ken Schinkel scored the other New York goals. Montreal scorers were Ralph Backstrom, Henri Richard, Phil Goyette and Dickie Moore.

Shack was tagged with the nickname—"Tumbledown"—Shack when he failed to live up to advance billing last season. Thursday, however, it was Canadiens who tumbled down when Shack fired two goals within 33 seconds midway through the second period, to give Rangers a 5-2 lead.

COSTLY LOSS

The loss might prove more costly than just on the scoreboard to the Montrealers. All-star defenceman Tom Johnson had to leave the game in the second period after receiving a stiff check from Shack. It was announced that he suffered a possible separation of the left shoulder.

The loss was Canadiens' second straight. Their 18-game undefeated streak was stopped Wednesday night at Toronto when the Maple Leafs beat them 1-0. It was also only their second loss at home this season, both to Rangers, who beat them 4-2 October 17.

The victory lifted Rangers into fifth place with 14 points, one more than Chicago Black Hawks and nine fewer than fourth-place Boston Bruins. Canadiens remained on top with 38 points, eight more than second-place Toronto, which leads Detroit Red Wings by four points.

Tee Topics

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Evidently, quite a few folks got ideas for gifts to dearie upon reading of Tiffany's in New York advertising gold putters, 14 carat, and only $1,475.

The ad said it appeared as a matter of record only, the supply being exhausted.

New York papers got busy. The supply had consisted of several, they were told, and Tiffany's would stock some more. The store began to get inquiries from potential customers.

Then out came Newsweek to the effect that upon government advice, the idea had been scrapped to discourage hoarders.

It was, too, while it lasted but nobody still knows how effective the gold putter is in getting a golf ball into a hole.

Victoria Golf Club's pro pairing of Ron MacLeod and Roy Chappell make their third defence of the city Open buttons on their home grounds Sunday.

Home course, knowledge may prove to be a decisive factor since MacLeod and Chappell take on a pair of tough, match-play cookies in John Merriman and Bill Wakeham, a new Gorge Vale combination.

And judging from the conversation around the locker rooms: Sunday's match could attract one of the best galleries of the season. There seems to be an increased interest in the matches and about all that's needed is co-operation of the weatherman.

Tee-off time is 12.30.

Mrs. Stanley Haynes has been named the new captain of the women's division at Oak Bay, succeeding Mary Campbell.

Other officers are Mrs. William Leach, vice-captain; Mrs. R. A. Fortye, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. T. W. Walker, Mrs. Colin Hart, Mrs. Guy Barclay and Mrs. Cyril Chapman, committee members.

SHORT CHIPS: The death of Harold Eidsvig, well-known Winnipeg pro, earlier this week was a shock to the many ex-prairie golfers in Victoria.

Eidsvig was one of the founders of the Manitoba Professional Golfers' Association.

E. C. Brown and Colin Rutherford play off at Oak Bay Saturday to settle a turkey competition dispute from the previous week.

speaking of turkey shoots: Gorge Vale's Leo Derman expects an entry of about 150 when 20 birds will be up for the taking Dec. 13.

Construction of new 15th tee at Oak Bay will make it tougher on the long-ball hitters who like cutting the corner on the dog-leg hole (are you listening, Ollie Corbett?)

Betting Increase For Washington

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Horse racing fans bet nearly $22,000,000 through the pari-mutuel windows at Longacres and Playfair tracks last summer, the state horse racing commission reported Thursday.

The total pari-mutuel take at the two tracks of $21,979,598 was $1,726,000 more than was wagered during the 1958 racing season.

Read Sets Sights On Greater Glory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Read is returning to the University of British Columbia to prepare the Varsity crews for the 1960 Olympic Games.

The man who coached UBC crews into world prominence from 1954 through 1956 before retiring under business pressures, said Thursday night he'll be back on the water with the UBC oarsmen the first of the new year.

His aim is to get UBC rowers into shape to win the Canadian representation in the Olympics in Rome next August.

MORE TRAINING? With some unspecified concessions from the university that may make it easier for the oarsmen to concentrate on their stiff training grind, Read hopes he can whip the crews into shape and come home an even bigger winner than in 1956.

In that year at Melbourne, Australia, Read's UBC fours took the gold medal and his eight finished second to the United States.

Read's crews first attained prominence when the UBC eight upset favored England in the 1954 British Empire Games here.

The following year Read saw his eight defeat Russia in an amazing upset at the Henley-on-Thames regatta, then finish second by half a length to the United States in the Henley final.

Read retired in January, 1958, stating that his Vancouver hotel business didn't leave him enough time for coaching.

Last year Dave Helliwell, who as a UBC student rowed under Read, handled the coaching. John Warren was at the helm in 1958.

Watch Where You Practice, Pardner!

AUSTRALIA-BOUND VIM HITCH-HIKER THIS TIME

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Vim, one of the United States' sleekest racing yachts, is on its way to Australia where she will become a test boat for a possible Australian attempt to capture the America's Cup.

The 20-year-old sloop, being shipped to Sydney aboard a freighter, was chartered by a group of Australian yachtsmen for four years. They plan to study the American boat, build one like her and then hold races between the two. Their aim is to enter their own yacht in the America's Cup races in 1961.

Last year, Vim lost to Columbia in trial races to determine which would represent the United States in defending the cup. Columbia went on to defeat the British yacht, Scythre.

Rich, Retired, But Also Best

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Round Table, the Kerr Stable's Mr. Moneybags, was named champion older horse today by the selections board of the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

The five-year-old was retired after the Jockey Club Gold Cup Oct. 31 at Aqueduct, and enters stud at Kentucky next spring. He retired as the world's greatest money winner with earnings of $1,749,869.

DOUBLE WINNER In 1958, Round Table not only was chosen best of the older handicap horses but also American champion. This year, the TRA voted the American champion to Sword Dancer, the three-year-old champ.

Other champions selected by the TRA are My Dear Girl, best two-year-old filly; Warfare, two-year-old colt; Templed, older filly; Ancestor, steeplechase horse; and Silver Spoon, three-year-old filly.

Warfare, the grey son of 1954 Kentucky Derby winner Determine, was unanimously named two-year-old champion earlier this week.

SOLUTION MONDAY

If there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia - Canadian edition and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Nick Hudak, aged 12, of Gary, Indiana, for his question:

What Keeps the Planets in Their Places?

The planets are kept in their places by laws of nature which govern everything in the vast and starry sky. These laws are wide and wonderful—but they are also simple—so simple that you see how they work with two small objects such as a ball and a piece of string.

Hold the ball at arm's length and let go. It will, as everyone knows, fall to the ground. True, it may bounce a few times in smaller and smaller leaps, but it will finally come to rest on the ground. It was, of course, pulled down by the mighty force of the earth's gravity which hugs everything to the face of the globe.

The power of gravitation is present in the sun, the moon, the stars and in every solid body in the entire universe. It acts to attract every solid body to every other solid body. The more massive an object is, the greater its gravitation. The earth's gravitation is much greater than that of the moon because the earth is more massive than the moon.

But gravitation decreases with distance. The sun's gravitation far exceeds that of the moon, yet our tides are caused mostly by the pull of the moon. This is because the more massive sun is about 400 times further away than the little moon, and the pull of its gravitation decreases with distance.

All the planets feel the pull of the sun's mighty gravitation. It is so strong that it holds them in the Solar System and prevents them from sailing away into the vast reaches of space. Why are not the planets pulled all the way to the face of the sun, as the ball was pulled to the ground? Because another law of nature operates to pull the planets away from the sun.

Powerful Forces Balanced

Fix a string to your ball and swing it around and around. If you now let go, the ball will fly away from you and not towards you. The swinging around in a circle built up centrifugal force and centrifugal force makes a whirling body pull away from the centre.

The planets are orbiting the sun and this whirling gives them centrifugal force. The faster they whirl, the more centrifugal force they have. The earth is orbiting the sun at a speed of about 18½ miles a second, which gives it a terrific centrifugal force. This force pulls a planet away from the sun, which is at the centre of the Solar System. At the same time, the force of gravitation between the sun and each planet is acting to pull them together.

The planets are kept in their proper places, then, by gravitation and centrifugal force pulling in opposite directions. Each planet is in a tug of war, with the two sides equally balanced. The centrifugal force in each orbiting planet is exactly equal to the pull of gravitation between the sun and the planet.

Atmosphere of Venus Hints Animals Exist

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientist has suggested that boneless animals, perhaps similar to jellyfish, may abound in oceans on Venus.

The suggestion came from Dr. Harrison Brown of the California Institute of Technology. He and other scientists participated in a news conference at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The scientists agreed that life on Venus seems more probable as a result of the discovery that the planet's atmosphere contains water vapor.

Joining Brown in the discussion were Dr. Robert Jastrow of NASA, Dr. Thomas Gold of Cornell University and Dr. Harold C. Urey of the University of California at La Jolla.

All agreed that existence of water on Venus, if it isn't too hot, indicates the possibility—and perhaps the probability—that the planet supports life.

The Venusian atmosphere contains an enormous amount of carbon dioxide compared to the amount of the same gas in the earth's atmosphere. On earth, much of the atmospheric carbon dioxide has been carried down in rain and has combined with surface rocks to produce limestone.

Limestone is the hard stuff of bones. Brown suggested that the relatively large amounts of carbon dioxide in the Venusian atmosphere may mean that the planet is covered with seas. This would prevent limestone-forming contact between the gas and the planetary rock.

"So if life exists on Venus," Brown said, "it might not have any bones."

He agreed that it might resemble jellyfish.

Urey said he was "not terribly surprised" by the scientific evidence of water vapor on Venus.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"I'm feeling fit and ready to fight ANYBODY!" Hedy Lamarr announced today, throwing out her chest, impressively. "Do I look sick?"

I stared at her bare feet—she was tired from shopping and had removed her shoes—and stated that even her feet looked healthy.

"They had better beware of me in Houston!" Hedy said. She was hurling a challenge at her millionaire husband, Howard Lee (brother-in-law of millionaire Glen McCarthy), with whom she's involved in separation litigation.

"They said I might be asking several million dollars. I just might do that, too," Hedy snapped.

I just loved Bert Lahr, Nancy Walker, Shelley Berman, Dick Van Dyke, Joy Nichols and Imelda De Martin—and Arnold Horwitz's sketches—in "The Girls Against the Boys." Beautiful, talented little Miss De Martin of New Jersey should be grabbed right now for Hollywood. Couple of cracks from the show: Husband, $1,800 to have Junior's teeth fixed! What the hell is he, a barracuda? A French novel is one in which a man discovers that his sweetheart has been playing around with her husband.

Is there a network blacklist already against ex-qu TV show employees? A TV writer says he's heard so. "It would be shameful if us lower echelon slobs were barred from working just because we were employed by some shady bosses," he said. "It's guilt by association."

Comedian Joey Bishop, appearing at the International Celebrity Night, said: "Joey Adams is selling his new book at the door—and you know, $2.95 isn't a bad price to refresh your memory about your old jokes."

The Midnight Earl: Joan Collins fly here when boyfriend Warren Beatty opens in "Loss of Roses" . . . Liz and Eddie use the alias "Mr. and Mrs. Brook" at local restaurants . . . Milton Berle helped comic Allan Drake rewrite his cafe act (eliminating references to his late wife) . . . Steve Rockefeller and his bride saw "Destiny" dined at the Playbill . . . Bardot's ex-beau, Sacha Distel, may star soon at a N.Y. cafe.

Earl's Pearl: The trouble with an inferiority complex is that the people who ought to have one never do.

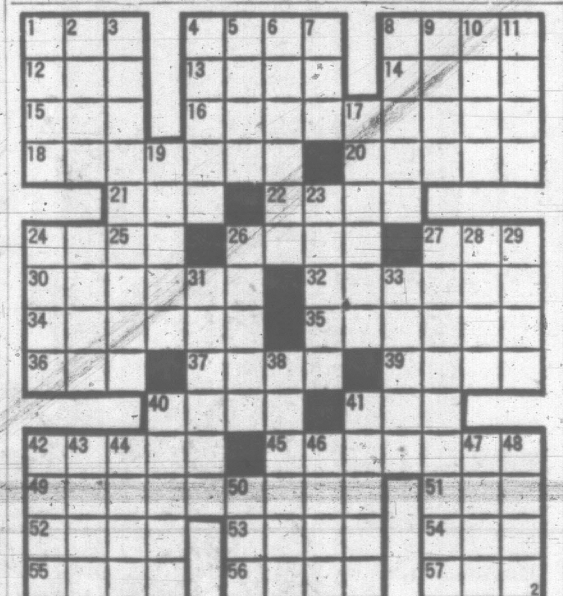

Today's Best Laugh: Nowadays an original comic is one who can get laughs without mentioning quiz shows.

Wish I'd Said That: TV is a strange medium. Some sponsors hire men on horseback to help 'em sell cars.

Joey Adams tells of the housewife who visited a psychiatrist, but he couldn't get her to start talking till he put a phone in her hand. That's Earl, brother.

GARY the quartette...

PHILIP... calls it a day.

'Untogetherness' Divides Crosbys

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Crosby brothers, who vowed less than a year ago to stay eternally together in show business, split up early today and walked out on a $12,000 night club engagement.

The break-up was preceded by a heated argument in their dressing room shortly before their scheduled midnight appearance at the El Morocco, it was reported.

A spokesman for the club said the split-up "was due to internal strife."

He said the group still had seven more performances to go before fulfilling their contract.

"BOSS" RESENTED

The boys, Gary, 26, twins Dennis and Philip, 24, and Lindsay, 22, have been known to have had disagreements in the past. Gary, usually the spokesman for the group, was said to have a quick temper and the others were reported to resent his bossiness.

Just recently Gary reconciled with his famous crooner father after a prolonged feud.

Gary was said to have led the brothers away from Bing's brother, Larry, who handled all the Crosby business. Under Gary's aegis the boys got their own agent to handle their act. Peter Petito, manager of the Crosby brothers, denied today that any argument took place in their dressing room last night. He said Gary had a sore throat and would not be able to perform for six months.

Petito said Gary had been suffering from a throat infection for some time.

STRICTLY FOR BIRD-MEN

Lady Chatterley Ploverly Stuff

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Librarian Ellsworth Mason recommended to students at Colorado College today a book that might interest bird lovers: "Lady Chatterley's Plover (Sic)."

Mason supported his selection by quoting a Field and Stream magazine review of D. H. Lawrence's frankly worded love classic:

"This fictional account of the day-by-day life of an English gamekeeper is still of considerable interest to the outdoor-minded readers, as it contains many passages on pheasant raising, the apprehending of poachers, ways to control vermin and other chores and duties of the professional gamekeeper."

"Unfortunately one is obliged to wade through many pages of extraneous material in order to discover and savor these sidelights of management on a Midlands shooting estate, and this book cannot take the place of J. R. Miller's Practical Gamekeeping."

First of Famous Duncan Sisters Accident Victim

CHICAGO (UPI) — Old-time vaudeville star Rosetta Duncan died today of injuries suffered last Tuesday in an auto crash in suburban Cicero.

Miss Duncan, who celebrated her 58th birthday last week, had been in critical condition with internal injuries, broken ribs and two broken legs since the accident.

Vivian Duncan, 56, Rosetta's sister and partner through 43 years of show business, was at her McNeal Hospital bedside when she died.

The Duncan Sisters began their career as teenagers in San Francisco with a vaudeville yodeling act.

But fame eluded them until the '20s, when they wrote a black-face skit, "Topsy and Eva," a musical version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and presented it to sellout crowds across the U.S.

African Babies Outgrowing Food

By NIGEL RYAN
ROME (Reuters)—The world as a whole still is producing food faster than babies, according to United Nations nutrition experts, but the African continent faces theoretical starvation if the present trend there continues.

A survey by the UN Food and Agriculture Organization shows that over-all world food production rose by four per cent last year while the population rose by only 1.6 per cent.

But it also reveals that in Africa the population increased more than food production. In other less-developed areas, including South America and rice-growing parts of Southeast Asia, the picture was not much brighter.

CHINA EXCLUDED

The survey emphasizes that last year's increase in world production represented a recovery from the severe recession of the previous year rather than a significant, long-term trend.

It also shows that the favorable figures are due largely to increased output in already healthy parts of the world, such as North America and Western Europe.

According to its figures, four regions, Latin America, the Far East, the Near East and Africa, which contain two-thirds of the world's population, accounted from 1954 to 1958 for only one-third of the world's agriculture production. This excluded Communist China, for which no reliable figures are available.

In the Far East and Latin America, production per head was lower in 1958 than it was before the Second World War. Even if it had been the same, it still would have been less than half the current world average production per head.

NEW COAT OF ASPHALT was laid by city crews this week to take the bumps and potholes out of Douglas Street, alongside Beacon Hill Park. Second coat will be laid in spring. The $8,000 job was launched by city public works department after rejection of frequent proposals to Capital Improvement District Commission to include it in beautification program.

SHE MAY TELL SECRET TO RUSSIANS 'Superwoman' Flees U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—A Russian-born woman doctor competed in a London-to-Paris race earlier this year on foot against jet-powered planes and has joined a British craze for long-distance marching on the last two weekends, was upset.

"This has broken my faith in England," she said. "I might as well go back to Russia and give them the scientific secrets I wanted to give to Britain. I can make them a race of supermen."

Dr. Barbara Moore has lost faith in England because the High Court Wednesday ordered her to hand over her home to a finance company.

The 56-year-old doctor, who her 110-mile hikes, is married to a sculptor and seldom is parted from Fangio the tortoise, even while marching.

She did not disclose details about her superman secrets, beyond saying they involve the avoidance of smoking, drinking and sex.

Canada's imports of Bibles, prayer books and hymn books in 1958 were valued at $4,097,000.

LOWER COST, BETTER

New Type Fishboat Hailed by Minister

PICTOU, N.S. (CP)—A new fishing boat, hailed by Industry Minister E. A. Manson as "an important development in designing a better low-cost boat for inshore fishermen," has been launched here.

The vessel—The Unique—was built by Stright-MacKay Ltd. with federal-provincial assistance for a Nova Scotia captain who has agreed to undertake a series of experiments and demonstrations showing the many uses to which the craft can be put.

Features of the Unique are: A wedge-shaped hull designed to improve stability-at sea; an automatic refrigeration unit to maintain the hold temperature just above freezing; a design that allows flooding from rail to rail without affecting the forecastle; a hold capacity of 45,000 pounds of dressed cod or 75,000 pounds of flatfish; radar, automatic pilot and course changer, depth recorder and radio telephone and equipment for Danish seining, swordfishing, scallop, fishing and mackerel or herring seining.

'PAYOLA PHILOSOPHY'
SEEN UNDERMINING B.C.

BURNS LAKE (CP)—The "payola philosophy" is endangering the political life of British Columbia, B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault warned Thursday night.

"Increasing thousands of people have come to realize the dangerous political apathy and neglect which exists in B.C. but too many of them are failing to act," he said.

"They choose the easy road, one which will maximize their financial income and material wealth and minimize their duty to contribute towards public service and preservation of the integrity of government."

By Night

TORONTO (CP) — Milan Jakubec works during the day at his drawing board as a designer of signs for the Ontario highways department in Toronto.

At night he is a leader of a group of expatriates from behind the Iron Curtain who operate their own anti-communist intelligence service in Canada.

Jakubec led a group from Czechoslovakia in 1948 when he and another airline employee seized a Czech national airline plane in flight and fled to the West.

Jakubec broke out of German internment camps four times during the Second World War to fly with the RAF.

He came to Canada in 1953.

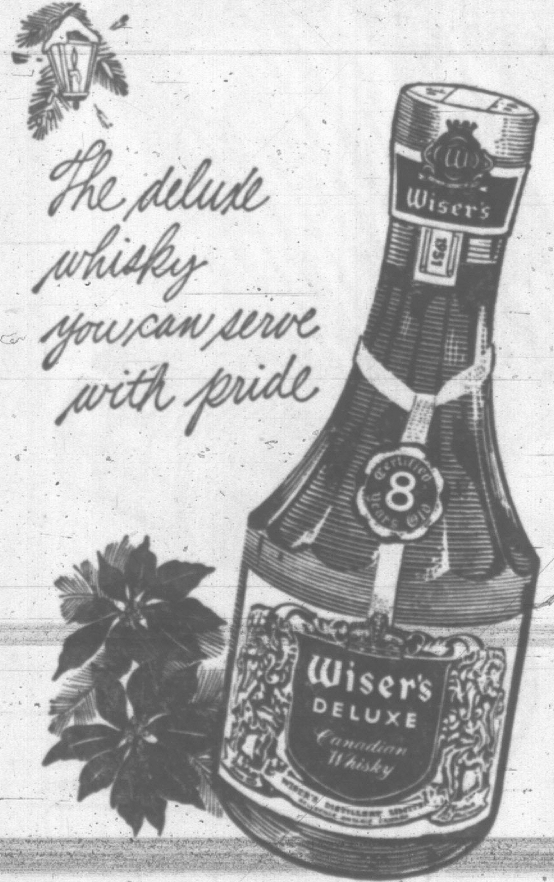

Prairies Expected
To Accept Farm Aid

WINNIPEG (UPI) — The three prairie provinces appeared ready today to accept the federal government's offer for assistance to farmers whose crop was ruined by early snow this year.

Both Manitoba and Saskatchewan have accepted the plan and Alberta indicated it might follow suit.

The plan, announced by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last week, provides for payments of up to $3 per acre for a maximum of 200 acres to farmers who had threshed less than 50 per cent of their crop. The federal government would pay half the money and the provinces the other half.

Alberta Agriculture Minister L. C. Halmrast said his province would accept if certain slight changes were made. His objection, and that of the majority of farmers, was the 50 per cent clause which means a farmer who had threshed 49 per cent of his grain gets the same assistance as the farmer who has threshed only one per cent.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1959 21

ARTIFICIAL BOOST FOR WARM BOAST

What appears to be a dastardly plot to steal weather honors from Victoria has been uncovered at Vancouver.

The weather office there said Vancouver was the warmest place in Canada Thursday with a high of 50.3 degrees.

Today the forecasters hastily amended this to 46.9 degrees, leaving Victoria on top with a high of 48.

The weather office is located at Vancouver International Airport. Weathermen admitted today an aircraft warming its engines near the hut where temperatures are recorded had warmed the mercury, too, giving it a four-degree boost.

MONTE ROBERTS

Our Very Own, Handy-Dandy, Do-It Yourself Guide for Civic Election Candidates

(Why write your own speeches? Put them together from this prefabricated kit of trite and true statements.)

Introduction:

Ladies and Gentlemen, it is a pleasure . . . more than that, an honor, to face such an audience of intelligent citizens who so obviously are aware of the problems which face us and are willing to face the problems which face us because the problems which face us are problems facing us, so let us face them.

Issues:

There are many issues involved in this campaign, in fact it would be fair to state this campaign is involved in many issues. And I challenge my opponent to come out forthright and foursquare to state as firmly as I have stated the fact that the issues involved in this campaign are the very same—the VERY SAME, I said—issues in which this campaign is involved.

Sewage disposal:

While sewage disposal is not an issue in this campaign, it must be truthfully said that if sewage disposal WERE an issue in this campaign, there could be no doubt in the minds of each and every fair-minded elector exactly where I stand and have stood with regard to the question of sewage disposal, which is, of course, that sewage certainly should be.

Town planning:

It goes without saying, towns should be planned. Therefore, I won't say it.

Progress:

Progress is a fine thing. Without progress, this great city of Victoria wouldn't hardly progress at all. I have always been behind progress, and I will always be behind progress, and the farther behind the better.

Finances:

A great city such as Victoria needs finances to continue to grow and progress and prosper and all like that. When elected, I will see that Victoria is adequately financed from here and also there, if not somewhere else. A vote for me is a vote for finances.

Taxes:

Um, or?

Holes in Streets:

There has been a great deal of controversy about holes in streets, and whether they are a good thing or a bad thing. Let us face it, holes in streets are here to stay. One cannot go against progress. But I promise you, when elected, I will see that each hole in each street is clearly marked by a large sign stating, without equivocation: "Hole in street."

Name calling:

I am determined to keep this campaign on a high level, dealing only with the issues, avoiding any personalities, despite the fact my opponent is a no-good bum.

SHIPSHAPE DOCKSIDE AWAITS COHO

New steel loading ramp to accommodate Black Ball Ferry Mv. Coho on the year-round Port Angeles service is being completed at Inner Harbor while new ferry itself is being readied for sea trials Dec. 11.

If trials are carried out on schedule, Coho will be delivered to company Dec. 22, go into service as soon as shakedown cruises are carried out. (Times Photo.)

FAMILY COURT PLAN BACKED BY MINISTERS

Victoria Ministerial Association Thursday threw its unanimous support behind the drive for establishment of a family court here.

"It is our hope that the members of your council will seek to promote this needed and worthwhile medium through which lives can be reclaimed," the association wrote City Hall.

"We want you to know that you have our complete support and sympathy in this worthy venture."

Meanwhile, Mayor Percy Scurrell said he expects the situation to clarify at the next intermunicipal meeting.

Victoria and Saanich have been reported in favor of a unified family and juvenile court but Oak Bay and Esquimalt have hung back from endorsing the plan.

Mayor Scurrell said the provincial government has cleared the way for the court "and now it is just up to the municipalities to come to an agreement for something to be done."

Fireman Gets Credit For 'Save'

Mrs. Pauline Armstrong, 45-year-old survivor of a house fire that took the life of her husband, William, also 45, was reported in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

Mrs. Armstrong, who lived with her husband William at 820 Balmoral, was rescued from a blazing two-story frame house at 1814 Quadra.

Fire was apparently caused when an oil heater in the front living room was knocked over.

A member of Victoria fire department carried Mrs. Armstrong out of the burning building, it was learned today. Later other firemen rushed into the flames and brought out William Armstrong, who died in hospital an hour later.

A sailor and three civilians told of assisting in the rescue. Dave Horner, 21, of 255 Robert, said they tried to carry Mrs. Armstrong out of the house but couldn't lift her.

"It was a fireman who carried her out," he said.

Horner said he assisted in the rescue with Ken Henson, 22, of 2559 Chelsea Drive, and Doug Ferguson, 20, of 1052 Davie. All are members of the Century Toppers Club.

Able Seaman Henry Oshane, 22, of HMCS Naden, also took part in the rescue but he was in civilian clothes and was not known to the other three.

No date has yet been set for an inquest into Mr. Armstrong's death.

Printers Protest 2-Hour Parking

Some 65 members of the provincial government printing bureau today protested a city plan to extend the two-hour parking limit in the Parliament Buildings area.

The group sent a petition to city hall for reconsideration of the proposal to make the limit effective from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. instead of the present 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. period. The extension is proposed as an all-out effort to break up all-day parking on the streets.

Bindery employee E. D. Wood, who submitted the petition, said the parking spaces around the printing bureau building at Government and Superior are not normally used by the public anyway.

BLUE BULBS FOR WHITE CHRISTMAS?

The Greater Victoria School Board has been asked to light up Craigdarroch Castle with blue bulbs as a tourist attraction for the Christmas season.

The suggestion was made by T. F. Baxter, 916 Heywood, in a letter to city officials. It was passed on to the school board.

Mr. Heywood envisaged the turrets and flying buttresses of the well-known castle being outlined in lights in the same manner as the Legislative Buildings are at night during the tourist and Christmas seasons.

"It is a wonderful old building, this castle," he wrote.

NOT PREPARED

U.K. Quit Colonies Too Soon

A University of British Columbia scientist who roamed three continents studying wildlife, said here today the British African colonies on the whole are not yet prepared for self-rule and independence.

Bristol Foster, a teacher and research worker at the university, predicting trouble in the colonies which are being given self-government, said the British are pulling out of Africa too soon.

"The natives are not prepared for self-government," he said. "In my opinion the independence of these colonies will only benefit the native ruling classes."

TO SHOW FILMS

Mr. Foster is showing his Audubon wildlife movie, "Roving Three Continents," at the Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 tonight and Saturday.

The picture deals with the animals, plants and people he saw during his 55,000-mile trip in Africa, India and Australia.

"I can't see the white population of Kenya pulling out without a fight," he said. "They control and own one of the best parts of the country. The climate is one of the best."

Teachers' Wages Arbitration Starts Next Week

Arbitration of the 1960 salary dispute between Greater Victoria school board and some 725 teachers begins next Wednesday.

Chairman of the three-man arbitration board is Alan Baker, city lawyer. Trustees' arbitrator is William McIntyre, city lawyer, and the teachers' arbitrator is Victor Dryer, Vancouver lawyer.

Sessions will be held at the school board's offices in Craigdarroch Castle.

Negotiations and conciliation earlier this fall resulted in a deadlock, with the teachers standing by a wage increase request amounting to an average 11.4 per cent and the trustees remaining firm with a counter-proposal of 4 per cent.

Motorist Held After Hot Chase

City Man Accused of Run Through RCMP Road Blocks

Ivan Varkonja, 460 Simcoe, suspected of running through a series of RCMP roadblocks between Nanaimo and Victoria Nov. 28, was remanded in custody in Duncan today after appearing in Duncan police court.

He pleaded not guilty to two charges of obstructing a police officer and charges of speeding and driving without due care and attention. Trial will be Dec. 11.

Bail was refused when the court heard Varkonja was released on $500 bail from Colwood RCMP court, where he will be tried Dec. 9 on a charge of driving with criminal negligence.

Charges arose after police reported a car making speeds of up to 85 miles per hour between Nanaimo and Victoria Nov. 28. It did not stop when signalled to do so by Const. Ronald Lawrence, Chemainus, and Const. Hugh D. Boyer, Cobble Hill.

According to Const. Ronald Budd, Duncan, he stopped a car in Duncan, but that the driver set off again at high speed.

Dredge Job For Burrard Dry Dock Ltd.

Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., of North Vancouver, today was awarded a federal government contract to build a $3,200,000 Fraser River dredge.

The dredge contract has been the subject of strong pressure on the government by west coast unions, businessmen and provincial and civic officials.

Bidding unsuccessfully for the contract were two Victoria firms, Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. and Yarrows Ltd. Burrard is the parent company of Yarrows.

Bids closed several weeks ago, but were held up while government engineers "re-evaluated" the job.

TENDERS DIFFERED Burrard's bid was lower than the other two tendering firms, and was negotiated still lower by the department of public works.

A comparison of the bids is difficult, because the three firms submitted a total of 13 tenders, each with differing specifications.

No Eastern yards bid on the dredge, although several had initial plans drawn. Apparently the costly shipment of the barge around the Panama Canal dampened their enthusiasm for the job.

The dredge, of the suction hopper type, will be 238 feet long and 45 feet in beam, and will move 40,000 cubic yards of material a week. Work is to be completed within 20 months.

A third sale is scheduled for Dec. 17.

Announcement earlier this week of government approval for a pipeline into the northern Peace area is expected to stimulate interest in future auctions.

The pipeline will enable oil companies to enter year-round production. Currently oil has to be trucked from wells above Dawson Creek to that distributing point. Production has dwindled appreciably in winter when trucks have limited access to the oil wells from Dawson.

St. Louis College Brothers' Home Smoke Damaged

About $200 smoke damage was caused late Thursday at the residence of the Christian Brothers of Ireland, 959 Balmoral, who were roused from their beds when the rooms filled with smoke.

Firemen discovered a drawful of smouldering items in a kitchen cabinet about 11.15 p.m.

Smoke was so dense the department used smoke ejectors, a type of fan, to clear the premises where 11 Christian Brothers live.

The Brothers are instructors at St. Louis College, Pandora Avenue.

Sale of Stray Cow Charged to Farmer

Arthur Edward Longland, 4051 Granville, was charged in Saanich court Thursday with selling a stray cow.

Judgment will be handed down next Thursday by Magistrate William Ostler.

Jagindar Singh Judge, 1703 Burnside West, who operates the dairy farm there with his father, Jagar Singh Judge, said a Holstein heifer, born and registered on their farm, vanished in October, 1958, when about aged two.

Longland is alleged to have sold the cow to Robert Quinn, 4661 Granville, for $150 in August this year.

About eight weeks ago a cow turned up at the Judge farm, identical to the missing animal except for a missing right ear tag.

Longland said he bought the cow from Charles Stark, 4170 Granville, in October, 1958, and Stark said he bought five Holsteins from Richard Birch, 5062 West Saanich, five months earlier.

Birch said he had raised the calves from a few days old. There were apparently several other cow deals involved.

Longland said he didn't know the cow he sold to Quinn was a stray, and he had no intention of fraudulently deceiving him.

LOUISE DAVIS

AUNTIE OVERSTAYS HER WELCOME:

The annual Christmas visit of my favorite aunt is becoming a problem, and I need your help in handling it. I'm married five years ago. I have two children, a girl in her senior year at high school and a boy two years younger. The widowed aunt used to come for just a week, but in the past two years it has been eight weeks each time. How can I manage to let her know, without hurting her feelings, that such a visit is an inconvenience for all of us? Even my thoughtful, easy-going husband vows that he will pull out and stay at a motel if she stays more than a week. With three bedrooms and one bathroom, a houseguest creates a difficult situation. My daughter wants to invite some girls for a Christmas party around New Year's, but that would be out if my aunt is still here.

Louise Davis answers:

You can't let an outsider, even a favorite aunt, disrupt your home, family and peace of mind. It wouldn't be fair to any of you and the job of handling this situation is up to you. Before your aunt has a chance to write first, I suggest that you write immediately, using firmness and diplomacy. Say that you would love to have her for a few days or a week at Christmas. Explain that you and your family have various commitments, implying that it would be inconvenient to have her stay any longer. Be sure to mention the pajama party and anything else that might turn up. After all, you don't want to curtail your children's holiday activities and you have your husband to consider as well as yourself. You could even suggest to your aunt an alternative that she come later on "to spend a few days or a week with us." Your aunt will undoubtedly be unhappy about the proposed cut in her stay, but surely this can't go on year after year. Now is the time for you to strike.

Women of Art Gallery Show Skill In Creating Unusual Decorations

If you think that bubble gum, egg cartons, empty sardine tins and cotton reels are incapable of becoming exotic a quick look at activities at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria would soon dispel that illusion!

Beginning in September, members of the Women's Committee have been meeting every Tuesday to create outstanding Christmas decorations in preparation for their sale to be held this Saturday.

In the gallery from 41 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Combining such everyday materials with greens, cones and using a lot of ingenuity they have achieved creations that have to be seen to be believed.

As Dr. Robert Stark, president of the gallery's board, says, "It's fantastic what they are doing!"

He should know. Mrs. Stark, who is co-convenor with Mrs. Trevor Housser, used some of the doctor's tongue depressors to form the gilded wings of angels on one modernistic table centre!

One novel piece is shaped exactly like the scale of justice. Stand of gold cotton reels has arms from which balance scales containing lacquered nuts and cones and colored fruits. Arms of this unusual piece are made from a coathanger.

Candy Christmas wreaths are another innovation of the imaginative committee. Layers of blue and gold packaged candy form the base. Blue ribbons, trim wreath and small pair of blue scissors dangle from the ribbons, all ready to snip off candies for visiting children.

FLYING SAUCERS

SASKATOON (CP)—Mrs. John Guenther is trying to form an organization interested in flying saucers, or UFO's as the RCAF calls them. She says the group would interest the public in studying "unidentified flying objects" and would "convince the public that flying saucers do exist."

by Mrs. Ian Ross have been molded into settings that are striking in their originality.

Mrs. H. R. Turner is convenor of a sale of gift-wrapped Christmas goodies that would be a welcome addition to any festive table.

Affair will open at 11 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m. As Mrs. B. Kjekstad, publicity convener, puts it, "Those who came to our sale last year will remember it as being terrific. This will be a modified version."

Modified version is still something that promises to be unique in our city. Committee members will serve tea in the tearooms during the sale. Tea convener is Mrs. Athol Sutherland-Brown. She will be assisted by Mrs. E. Gudewill, Mrs. W. R. McIntyre and Mrs. R. A. H. Lort.

The Women's Committee, under president Mrs. R. C. Anderson, have designated proceeds towards bringing an art exhibition to the gallery this coming spring. Exhibition, "Decorative Arts of Morocco," will be here from April 12 to May 1.

Electric toasting machines need frequent cleaning, but be sure to disconnect them first.

ALONE IN ESKIMO VILLAGE

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Claretta Wright of Elk Point, Alta., is starting her fourth year of school teaching in isolated Eskimo settlements—happily realizing a childhood ambition.

Miss Wright was interviewed at this Hudson Bay port just before leaving aboard the Hudson's Bay Company's motor vessel Rupertsland for Sugluk, a tiny settlement on the extreme northern tip of Quebec, 300 miles south of the Arctic Circle.

She taught at Cape Dorset and Frobisher Bay in the last three years, but her new assignment is more isolated than these. At Dorset and Frobisher there were regular airplane arrivals, and mail was received at least once a month. At Sugluk, mail is dropped only at Christmas, with the possibility of another delivery between January and March if an RCMP air patrol passes the area.

The only way to increase your hip measurement without gaining weight is to develop the hip muscles with exercise. The exercises in Josephine Lowman's Leaflet No. 3, including the "bicycle ride" above, are equally successful in developing or reducing hips.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

With Exercise You Can Gain In Hips and Not Elsewhere

Q. "Is there any way to add an inch or so to the hips without gaining any other place?"

A. The only way to increase this measurement without gaining weight is to develop the hip muscles with exercise.

Q. "I am going to be 16 years old very soon. I once read that when you are 16 you are eligible for nose surgery by a plastic surgeon. Is this true? I would appreciate it very much if you would also tell me what the average cost of such an operation is."

A. Surgeons used to prefer waiting until the age of 18 before changing the nose and some of them might still feel this way. However, I believe most of them will operate when a person is 17. Discuss the details of this operation with a well-qualified plastic surgeon.

Q. "I am middle-aged and considered attractive, but I have protruding ears. I have worn my hair short because of this. Now I would like to wear it back in a bun. My husband admires people with long hair but I look horrible with it pulled back because of my ears. Can I have plastic surgery done?"

A. Yes this operation is done successfully. Also you could have long hair but cut it short at the sides and curl it. You still could wear the back hair in a bun. You would not look your best with the ears exposed.

Q. "In what stage of development does a girl begin to wear a bra? Mom comes from a different country and when I went with her to visit the girls they were well developed but did not wear a bra. In school here a lot of the girls who are smaller than I wear a bra. Please answer soon. This has caused me many a tear."

A. A brassiere should be worn whenever a bust has become large enough to require support or to make the girl self-conscious. Talk this over with your mother and explain to her that in this country it makes you feel conspicuous to be different from your friends.

$300 Made By Auxiliary

Almost $300 was realized from a Christmas bazaar sponsored by the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary on Salt Spring Island. Affair, convened by Mrs. G. H. Holmes, was held in the parish hall. It was opened by Mrs. C. Springfield, president of St. Mark's Guild. She was introduced by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes.

Assisting on stalls were Mrs. H. Ashby, Mrs. J. Surtees, home cooking; Mrs. V. J. Jackson, Mrs. A. W. Barber, fancy work; Mrs. W. Norton, Mrs. N. A. Howland, plants; Mrs. E. Worthington, novelty Christmas tree, and Mrs. Holmes, Christmas centre-pieces and gifts.

Evening branch of the auxiliary had knitted goods and home-cooking stalls, convened by Mrs. D. Seward, Mrs. J. F. Hawkesworth and Mrs. G. Young.

Mrs. T. Carlyle, Mrs. R. Meyer and Miss M. Harrington were in charge of a "pantry shelf" stall, sponsored by the Vesuvius Circle.

Decorated pine cones formed centerpieces for individual tea tables. Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. M. Fellows, Mrs. J. Byron, Mrs. W. Eagles, Miss A. Hoffman, Mrs. A. Taylor and Mrs. G. Laundry were in charge of tea arrangements.

Large red poinsettias, flanked by red candles in silver candelabra decorated the head table. Presiding at head table were Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. F. L. Jackson, Mrs. V. Case Morris and Mrs. D. G. Crofton.

Mrs. Harold Price was in charge of door receipts. Music was provided by the high school band. Players included Terry Wolfe-Milner, Shane Heinekey, Garry Kaye, Ivan Abolt and Lyle Browns.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Batting Zero!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: A young (and very good-looking) girl in our office was fixed up with a very attractive man. The office manager arranged the date and told the girl that this man was married but not working at it. The girl is three times seven and knows the score.

A great big romance developed. And I mean big!

Now the girl's family is on the off mgr's back. Would you say the off mgr. deserves the blame for all this? Or isn't a girl well over 21 responsible for her own conduct? The off mgr. intended to arrange only a "date"—not an affair.

IN THE MIDDLE, DEAR IN: The "off mgr." is Enemy Number One for leading these two weaklings into temptation. The rest of the blame should be shared equally by the two who couldn't resist it.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like you to send me a personal reply, but I'm afraid my mother might see it and punish me for taking my problem to somebody else. You see, I'm almost 13 and, Abby, I'm ashamed to go to school. Some of my friends have skin troubles, too. But their mothers take them to doctors and they get creams and special soaps to use. My mother says "beauty is only skin deep." But that's no help. What can I do?

PIMPLES. DEAR PIMPLES: Beauty is only skin deep, but at 13 that is deep enough. Do stay away from sweets, chocolates and fried foods. If, after a few months, there is no improvement, try again to convince your mother to take you to a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: I found out that my fair lady was not all I wanted her to be. So I wrote her a registered letter explaining that I felt our engagement was a mistake. (We are 1,000 miles apart.) She wrote back, ignoring my letter, and carried on as though she had not received it at all. I sent her another registered letter repeating my sentiments and I told her she could keep the diamond engagement ring. Then I returned all of her letters. She wrote again, making no mention of my letter. Where do I stand? Can I consider our engagement officially terminated? Or can she possibly sue me for breach of promise? ANOTHER JOHN DOE. DEAR JOHN: Your "fair lady" sounds anything but fair. Consult a lawyer. With a gal who so obviously refuses to take "No" for an answer you will need all the help the law allows.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEB: You were not "picked up" by you were "picked up." Checking up on a man should be the first thing you do—not the last.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Imagination the Keynote In Floral Arrangements

TORONTO (CP)—Cut flowers don't have to be put in a vase. A teapot, candelabra, almost any odd dish, makes a good start for a floral arrangement.

"With imagination the sky is the limit," says Harvey Hall, eastern manager of a large floral telegraph service.

He travels 65,000 air miles yearly in Canada and United States giving demonstrations of flower arrangements.

During his travels he sings the praises of Oriental styling. "They always use odd numbers. When they come to three, they do the flowers in groups of threes," he explained. If there are nine flowers in the arrangement, they will be in three groups of three flowers. "The flowers are carefully selected—one tight bud, one medium and the other large," he explained. "The bud represents tomorrow, the medium flower today and the large bud yesterday."

The small bud is placed pointing towards heaven, the largest bud is at the base close to the earth and the medium bud is set between.

The bud pointing towards heaven is the heavenline, the bud at the base is the earthline and the one between is the manline.

"With such an arrangement earth is looking up to man and man is looking up to heaven, and what good would man be if he didn't."

BIRTH BATTLE BEING WON

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Toru Hagiwara, Japanese ambassador to Canada, said Thursday Japan is winning the battle against an exploding population.

His country is more concerned with trade than birth control, he said in an interview.

He said because of Japan's birth control policies the annual pre-war birth rate of 25 births per 1,000 population has been reduced to eight per thousand.

Japan was liberalizing her trade policies and within three years exchange control and import quotas would be lifted.

He said Canada will probably be able to sell more to Japan after the liberalization.

GAY WEEKEND PARTIES IN BAHAMAS

Missile Firm Feted Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators released testimony today showing that Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was among high military officers entertained by a big missile contractor at a plush Bahamas resort.

The Martin Co., of Baltimore, told a House armed services subcommittee that it spent $18,000 on gay weekend golfing parties for nine generals, nine admirals and other guests.

Air Force Secretary, James

Human Torch Killing

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two men pulled an unconscious man from an automobile Thursday, threw fuel on him and burned him to death in a vacant lot on the edge of Mexico City.

H. Douglas and Elwood R. Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, also sampled the defence firm's hospitality, although Douglas paid his own expenses. Quesada, a former air force officer, was serving as President Eisenhower's aviation adviser at the time.

Martin, which produces the Titan missile and has about $800 million worth of defence contracts, was host for the fun-in-the-sun outings at the exclusive Cotton Bay Club on the Island of Eleuthera.

George M. Bunker, Martin board chairman, told the services subcommittee there was nothing unethical about entertaining military brass. He said he couldn't believe "anybody is going to think they are unduly influenced because they played golf" with him.

F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) commented, "I dare say 90 per cent of the American public immediately thinks they are being influenced."

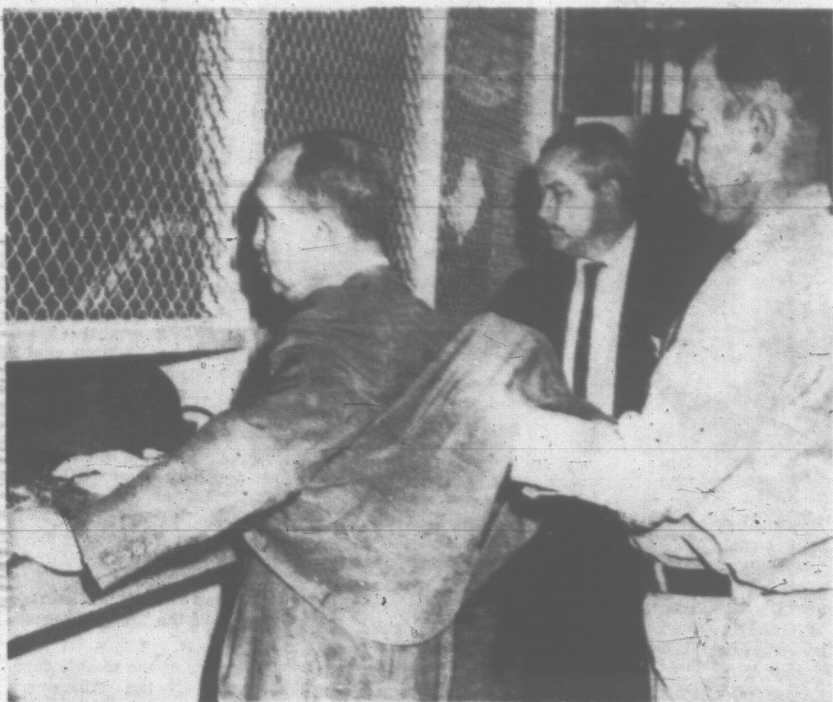

Hebert said it may be all right for a business to entertain private customers, but the practice is "highly improper where the government is concerned." He said the government is Martin's only customer.

Hebert also noted that the company, after picking up the tab for the Bahamas trips, tried to write it off as a business expense for tax purposes but was rebuffed by the internal revenue service.

Bunker appeared before the subcommittee this summer in connection with a general investigation of possible influence peddling on defence contracts.

COHEN AND GIRL FRIEND ARRESTED IN SHOOTING

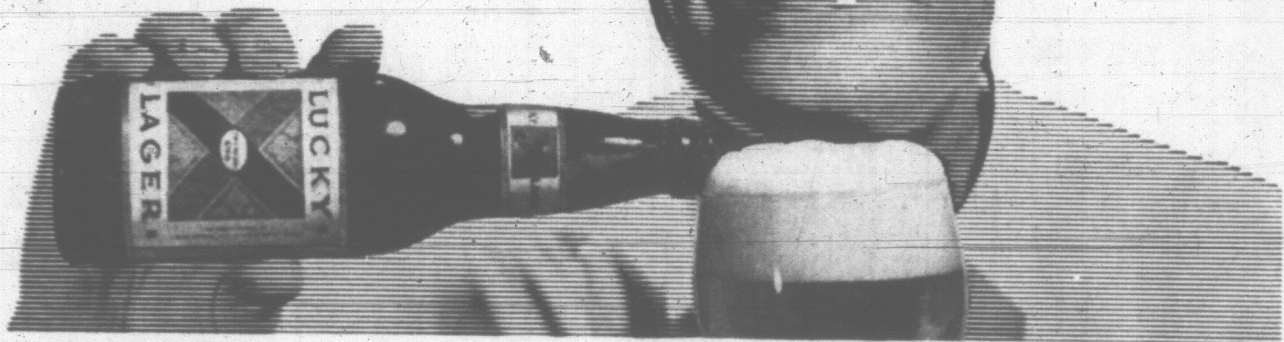

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Gambler Mickey Cohen is in police custody on suspicion of murder after he witnessed the shooting of an underworld strong-arm man in a suburban restaurant.

Held with Cohen is his blonde girl friend, Clarette (Sandy) Hashagen, 18, who was sitting with Cohen Wednesday night when a man shot Jack Whalen at point-blank range only six feet from their table.

Both Cohen and the girl denied seeing the shooting. Police can hold them 48 hours on suspicion of murder. There was no indication today they would hold them longer.

HORMONE COULD CAUSE CANCER

Meat Health Threat Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration disclosed Thursday it plans to study possibilities that human health may be affected by residues in meat and poultry of a female hormone used to fatten cattle and poultry.

The hormone is diethylstilbestrol, commonly known as stilbestrol, and widely used in medicine for about 15 years.

Commissioner George P. Larrick said the hormone is known to cause cancer of the breast in men if taken in large doses. He said such cases are extremely rare.

He said scientific tests have shown minute quantities of stilbestrol residue in the skin and liver of chicken prepared for the market. No residues have been found in meat from cattle, he said.

Larrick said the fact the study will be made is no cause for alarm.

In Canada, regulations permit the use of stilbestrol in feed, or by injection for beef cattle, but only under controlled conditions where the synthetic hormone is pre-mixed at an established level. A withdrawal period must be permitted before the animal is slaughtered.

For poultry, the growth stimulant may be only used in a pellet injection in the neck near the head, and in a location that guarantees that that part of the carcass will not be used for human food.

The amount of such meats in Canadian markets is not large at present, but use of the hormone is increasing.

CHAPLIN, 70, GREET'S NEW BABY GIRL

L. A. U-SANNE, Switzerland (Reuters) — Oona Chaplin, 34-year-old wife of 70-year-old actor-producer Charlie Chaplin, had an eight-pound girl here Thursday, her seventh child.

Chaplin got to the clinic only 10 minutes before the child was born. He was the first to greet his wife after the birth.

Oona, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill, was reported doing well.

The comedian and Oona now have five girls and two boys. The new baby is to be named Annette-Emilie.

Newcomer Seeks Seat in Saanich

Ian H. Campbell, 5038 Wesley, a newcomer in municipal politics, will seek election on Saanich council in the December 17 elections.

A member of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association, Mr. Campbell is an iron worker employed at HMC Dockyard. He has lived in Saanich 10 years and has taken an active part in the community affairs of his district.

DONATION LIST OPENS FOR KOREAN KIDDIES' FUND

Subscription list opened today for the "Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund" of the Unitarian Service Committee, which will be sponsored in Victoria by the Victoria Daily Times.

This will be the seventh consecutive year that the Times has supported the USC Christmas appeal headed by Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, USC executive director.

Known in nearly every underprivileged area of the world as the "little lady with the big heart," Dr. Hirschmanova has directed her efforts in recent years to assisting the human wreckage left in Korea by the war there.

Last year her fund was devoted to providing milk for Korean children, who rarely taste something which Victorians accept as commonplace.

The year before the "T-Bricks for Korea" campaign provided materials for a tuberculosis outpatients' pavilion at Han No Hospital in Seoul, Korea.

This year the objective of the fund is $15,000 to build a rehabilitation centre in Seoul for war-crippled children, and supplement the work done in the Sam Yook home for war-crippled children in the Korean capital.

A monumental job faces the committee. There are 50,000 war-mutilated children in Korea facing treatment for wounds, lifetimes of hospital care, devices to assist amputees, and the need for special instruction to let them make their own way against exceedingly difficult obstacles.

For those who have forgotten the cause of so much misery, here is a brief account of the hostilities which caused so much human wreckage.

The country was divided along the 38th parallel by what was to have been a temporary agreement, with the Russians in the north, and Americans in the south. As a result, the Republic of Korea was formed in 1948.

In June, 1950, Korean Communist troops from the north invaded the republic; the UN army fought back, and the bitter and costly war, which left 100,000 Korean orphans, 284,000 widows, and 517,000 dependent children, lasted two years and 17 days.

Cheques should be made out to the Korean Crippled Kiddies Fund, and mail donations should be addressed to the fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

Cash donations will be accepted at the main office of the Times at 2631 Douglas Street, or at the downtown office, 1215 Broad Street. All donations will be acknowledged in the Times and will be deductible for income tax purposes. Receipts will be given directly to donors who appear in person and mailed to the others.

A collection taken at a public meeting in Oak Bay Junior High School Thursday night, when Dr. Hirschmanova spoke on her work in Asia (see story page 6) netted $208.27.

Given at the same time were $25 from Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scourrah, and $100 from the Times.

Other donations were as follows:

IKE ARRIVES IN ROME

'We Want To Live In Peace'

ROME (UPI)—President Eisenhower delivered to the Italian people today a "simple message from America... We want to live in peace."

He stood bare-headed in wind and driving rain for the playing of the United States and Italian national anthems after stepping down to the puddle-filled runway of Ciampino airport from the 707 jet airliner that carried him here from Washington at the start of an 11-nation goodwill tour.

The heavy rain that has pelted Rome for a week delayed his arrival by 16 minutes and gave the airport ground radar installations a few moments of difficulty in locating the presidential plane as it approached for a landing in a heavy overcast.

But the huge plane splashed down to a safe and wet landing.

When he stepped from the aircraft, Eisenhower was greeted by Italian President, Giovanni Gronchi, Premier Antonio Segni and a host of other officials.

"We want to live in peace and friendship, with freedom," the president told them.

"This message, I hope, will be heard in every country where communications are free."

The rain held the crowd to a minimum, but even the communists had joined with the rest of Italy beforehand to make it clear that Eisenhower's visit was welcomed with warmth and high hopes for world peace.

'Italy's Tribute Is Unanimous'

Gronchi told him despite the multi-party Italian system, which includes a powerful Communist faction, Italy's tribute to Eisenhower "is unanimous—I want to stress the word 'unanimous'."

After his remarks which reiterated the views he expressed before leaving Washington Thursday night for the unprecedented 19-day journey that will take him to three continents, Eisenhower was whisked off to the centre of Rome.

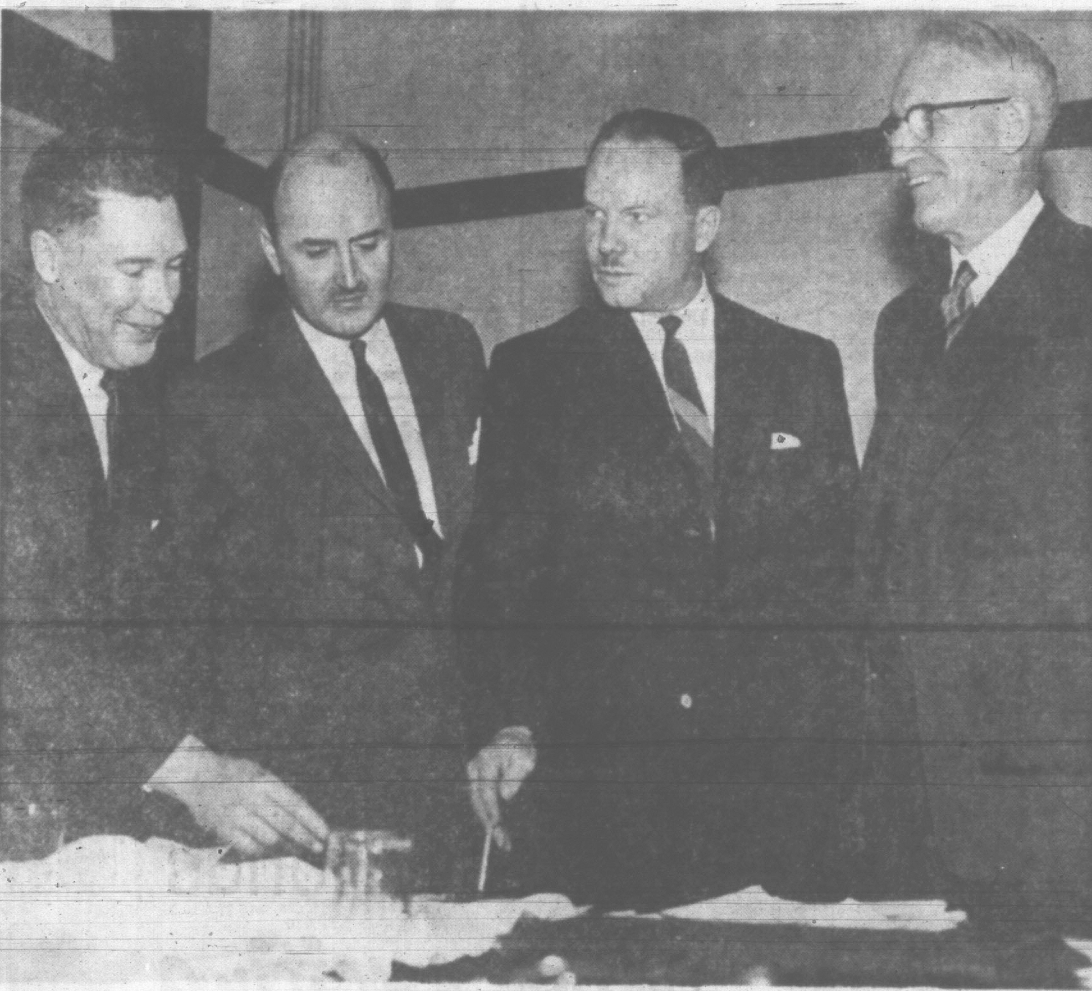

hower was to be guest of honor at a dinner given by the Italian president.

In a broadcast Thursday night just before he left Washington, Eisenhower emphasized that his is a message of peace.

"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire—a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

The president said the first requirement for reducing the tensions is a start on mutual disarmament by the Western powers and the Soviet bloc. But he warned that until disarmament starts, the U.S. must maintain a military strength adequate in quality and power.

Power Export Ban to Stay; Hits at Peace River Deal

Provincial and federal cabinet ministers met here today for fourth session in Columbia River hydro talks. From left are B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, chairman; Attorney-General

Robert Bonner; Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton, federal co-chairman; and External Affairs Minister Howard Green. An attitude of general agreement in the progress of negotiations was reported.

Green Presses Columbia Project In Talks Here

By PETE LOUDON

A climax to years of planning for two immense hydro projects for British Columbia was reached here today with opening of talks between two federal cabinet ministers and provincial government officials on the proposed Columbia River development.

The long-smouldering clash between this scheme and the enormous Wenner-Gren proposal for the Peace River in northeastern B.C. clearly emerged when External Affairs Minister Howard Green, on the eve of the talks, said the Canadian government does not propose to relax its policy of refusing export of electric power to the United States.

Sharp Blow

Officials of the Peace River Power Development Company have said they would need to export power to utilize the full potential of the $610,000,000 project. They have already made representations to Ottawa for removal of taxes on power exports.

First reaction of power experts was that Mr. Green's statement had delivered a sharp blow to the Peace River plan.

Interviewed at the Empress Hotel on his arrival Thursday night, Mr. Green also squashed Peace River Power Development Co. statements that the Columbia would not be able to produce power for 11 years.

By Next Year

He forecast completion of a Columbia River power treaty with the United States in time to see work start on the first Columbia storage dam, next year.

He said he believed Columbia power, in form of return of downstream benefits by the U.S., would be transmitted to the coast at a cost of less than four mills immediately the dam was built.

He set no date, but Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission probing the Columbia project, said last June this would be possible by 1966.

This would match the best hopes of the Peace promoters and would have the added advantage of a lower cost power. PRPD president W. C. Mainwaring recently said "Peace power would come to the coast at a cost competitive with other power now supplied here—generally described at the six-mill level."

People Decide

Perhaps with all this in mind, Mr. Green then told reporters, the people of B.C. should "decide for themselves" whether the Peace project should be permitted to go ahead at the same time as the Columbia.

The company expects a decision on a water licence application to the B.C. government.

Pulp Empire 'Logical' For Peace

Establishment of a pulp industry in the Peace River area in 1961 would be a logical follow-up development to the Peace River hydro scheme, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today.

He was commenting on a report Thursday from Vancouver that construction of a pulp mill complex was under preliminary study by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company. (See page 1)

"If you are going to flood an area, it's a foregone conclusion the timber must be removed. The mills would also provide a demand for the Peace power," he said.

The proposed Peace River dam will create a lake 300 miles long in the Rocky Mountain Trench.

Mr. Williston also commented at noon on progress of the Columbia River hydro talks which started here this morning. He and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton are joint chairmen.

SURPRISING

"There is surprising unanimity and a good working relationship."

He agreed with the earlier comments of External Affairs Minister Howard Green that B.C. is as anxious as Ottawa to get the Columbia hydro project underway.

"But," he added, "There are real differences and I have no idea when they will be resolved."

The federal-provincial committee is studying progress reports of the International Joint Commission.

Steel Chief Rejects Plea

(See Page 17) —The chief steel industry negotiator today rejected President Eisenhower's call for around-the-clock negotiations.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice-president of U.S. Steel, told reporters:

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Immigration Ban Grievance Cause

This is the sixth in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Japan has a two-sided grievance against Canada — this country is admitting large numbers of immigrants from all over the Western world and substantial numbers from China but it admits virtually no Japanese.

The grievance is two sided because it secretly humiliates the Japanese people and retards promising Japanese investments in Canada.

When this delicate subject of Asiatic immigration is opened two facts should be understood at once: First, Japan has no hope or thought of relieving its population pressure by exporting its citizens and is unlikely to reach its small emigration target of 12,000 persons in all foreign countries this year; second, Japan thoroughly understands why Canada will not admit large numbers of its people as permanent residents and makes no complaint on that score.

Nevertheless, the discrimination

tion against Japanese, as compared to Chinese, rankles deeply in Japan.

Last year Canada admitted 2,615 Chinese immigrants through Hong Kong on compassionate grounds—ostensibly the relatives of Chinese already living here, though in fact no one can be sure who or what they were, since proof is difficult or impossible. But only 188 Japanese were admitted on similar grounds. In the first nine months of this year Chinese immigrants numbered 2,046 and Japanese 150.

PM Names Burns Special Adviser

INDIAN PICKED FOR UNEF POST

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Maj.-Gen. P. S. Gyani of the Indian Army has been nominated by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to be commander of the United Nations Emergency Force in succession to Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, it was announced today.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Gen. Burns would take up his duties in Ottawa "as soon as he has taken leave of his command in Gaza."

Gen. Burns returned to the Middle East Wednesday after a four-week furlough in Canada.

He will be responsible for advising the government on all disarmament matters and will represent Canada in international negotiations relating to disarmament questions.

As his first formal assignment, Gen. Burns will serve as Canadian representative on the new 10-power disarmament committee, expected to begin its work in Geneva early in the new year.

The committee, formed recently to supplement the work of the United Nations in the disarmament field, is comprised of five Western and five Communist members.

In a brief interview, before he entered a cabinet session, Mr. Diefenbaker said he was

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1959 -21

ARTIFICIAL BOOST FOR WARM BOAST

What appears to be a dastardly plot to steal weather honors from Victoria has been uncovered at Vancouver.

The weather office there said Vancouver was the warmest place in Canada Thursday with a high of 50.3 degrees.

Today the forecasters hastily amended this to 46.9 degrees, leaving Victoria on top with a high of 48.

The weather office is located at Vancouver International Airport. Weathermen admitted today an aircraft warming its engines near the hut where temperatures are recorded had warmed the mercury, too, giving it a four-degree boost.

MONTE ROBERTS

Our Very Own, Handy-Dandy, Do-It-Yourself Guide for Civic Election Candidates

(Why write your own speeches? Put them together from this prefabricated kit of trite and true statements.)

Introduction:

Ladies and Gentlemen, it is a pleasure... more than that, an honor, to face such an audience of intelligent citizens who so obviously are aware of the problems which face us and are willing to face the problems which face us because the problems which face us are problems facing us, so let us face them.

Issues:

There are many issues involved in this campaign, in fact it would be fair to state this campaign is involved in many issues. And I challenge my opponent to come out forthright and foursquare to state as firmly as I have stated the fact that the issues involved in this campaign are the very same—the VERY SAME, I said—issues in which this campaign is involved.

Sewage disposal:

While sewage disposal is not an issue in this campaign, it must be truthfully said that if sewage disposal WERE an issue in this campaign, there could be no doubt in the minds of each and every fair-minded elector exactly where I stand and have stood with regard to the question of sewage disposal, which is, of course, that sewage certainly should be.

Town planning:

It goes without saying, towns should be planned. Therefore, I won't say it.

Progress:

Progress is a fine thing. Without progress, this great city of Victoria wouldn't hardly progress at all. I have always been behind progress, and I will always BE behind progress, and the farther behind the better.

Finances:

A great city such as Victoria needs finances to continue to grow and prosper and all like that. When elected, I will see that Victoria is adequately financed from here and also there, if not somewhere else. A vote for me is a vote for finances.

Taxes:

Um, er?

Holes in Streets:

There has been a great deal of controversy about holes in streets, and whether they are a good thing or a bad thing. Let us face it, holes in streets are here to stay. One cannot go against progress. But I promise you, when elected, I will see that each hole in each street is clearly marked by a large sign stating, without equivocation: "Hole in street."

Name calling:

I am determined to keep this campaign on a high level, dealing only with the issues, avoiding any personalities, despite the fact my opponent is a no-good bum.

Most of the bikes are in good condition and police find it difficult to understand why they have not been claimed before.

FAMILY COURT PLAN BACKED BY MINISTERS

Victoria Ministerial Association, Thursday, threw its unanimous support behind the drive for establishment of a family court here.

"It is our hope that the members of your council will seek to promote this needed and worthwhile medium through which lives can be reclaimed," the association wrote City Hall.

"We want you to know that you have our complete support and sympathy in this worthy venture."

Meanwhile, Mayor Percy Scurrell said he expects the situation to clarify at the next intermunicipal meeting. Victoria and Saanich have been reported in favor of a unified family and juvenile court but Oak Bay and Esquimalt have hung back from endorsing the plan.

Mayor Scurrell said the provincial government has cleared the way for the court "and now it is just up to the municipalities to come to an agreement for something to be done."

Firemen Get Credit For 'Save'

Mrs. Pauline Armstrong, 45-year-old survivor of a house fire that took the life of her husband William, also 45, was reported in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

Mrs. Armstrong, who lived with her husband William at 820 Balmoral, was rescued from a blazing two-storey frame house at 1814 Quadra. Fire was apparently caused when an oil heater in the front living room was knocked over.

A member of Victoria fire department carried Mrs. Armstrong out of the burning building, it was learned today. Later other firemen rushed into the flames and brought out William Armstrong, who died in hospital an hour later.

A sailor and three civilians told of assisting in the rescue. Dave Horner, 21, of 255 Robert, said they tried to carry Mrs. Armstrong out of the house but couldn't lift her.

"It was a fireman who carried her out," he said.

Horner said he assisted in the rescue with Ken Henson, 22, of 2359 Chelsea Drive, and Doug Ferguson, 20, of 1052 Davie. All are members of the Century Toppers' Club.

Able Seaman Henry Oshane, 22, of HMCS Naden, also took part in the rescue but he was in civilian clothes and was not known to the other three.

No date has yet been set for an inquest into Mr. Armstrong's death.

Printers Protest 2-Hour Parking

Some 65 members of the provincial government printing bureau today protested a city plan to extend the two-hour parking limit in the Parliament Buildings area.

The group sent a petition to city hall for reconsideration of the proposal to make the limit effective from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. instead of the present 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. period. The extension is proposed as an all-out effort to break up all-day parking on the streets.

Bindery employee E. D. Wood, who submitted the petition, said the parking spaces around the printing bureau building at Government and Superior are not normally used by the public anyway.

BLUE BULBS FOR WHITE CHRISTMAS?

The Greater Victoria School Board has been asked to light up Craigdarroch Castle with blue bulbs as a tourist attraction for the Christmas season.

The suggestion was made by T. F. Baxter, 916 Heywood, in a letter to city officials. It was passed on to the school board.

Mr. Heywood envisaged the turrets and flying buttresses of the well-known castle being outlined in lights in the same manner as the Legislative Buildings are at night during the tourist and Christmas seasons.

"It is a wonderful old building, this castle," he wrote.

NOT PREPARED

U.K. Quit Colonies Too Soon

A University of British Columbia scientist who roamed three continents studying wildlife, said here today the British African colonies on the whole are not yet prepared for self-rule and independence.

Bristol Foster, a teacher and research worker at the university, predicting trouble in the colonies which are being given self-government, said the British are pulling out of Africa too soon.

"The natives are not prepared for self-government," he said. "In my opinion the independence of these colonies will only benefit the native ruling classes."

TO SHOW FILMS

Mr. Foster is showing his Audubon wildlife movie "Roving Three Continents" at the Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 tonight and Saturday.

The picture deals with the animals, plants and people he saw during his 55,000-mile trip in Africa, India and Australia. "I can't see the white population of Kenya pulling out without a fight," he said. "They control and own one of the best parts of the country. The climate is one of the best."

Teachers' Wage Arbitration Starts Next Week

Arbitration of the 1960 salary dispute between Greater Victoria school board and some 725 teachers begins next Wednesday.

Chairman of the three-man arbitration board is Alan Baker, city lawyer. Trustees' arbitrator is William McIntyre, city lawyer, and the teachers' arbitrator is Victor Dryer, Vancouver lawyer.

Sessions will be held at the school board's offices in Craigdarroch Castle. Negotiations and conciliation earlier this fall resulted in a deadlock, with the teachers' standing by a wage increase request amounting to an average 11 1/2 per cent and the trustees remaining firm with a counterproposal of 4 per cent.

Motorist Held After Hot Chase

City Man Accused of Run Through RCMP Road Blocks

Ivan Varkonja, 460 Simcoe, suspected of running through a series of RCMP roadblocks between Nanaimo and Victoria Nov. 28, was remanded in custody in Duncan today after appearing in Duncan police court.

He pleaded not guilty to two charges of obstructing a police officer and charges of speeding and driving without due care and attention. Trial will be Dec. 11.

Bail was refused when the court heard Varkonja was released on $500 bail from Colwood RCMP court, where he will be tried Dec. 9 on a charge of driving with criminal negligence.

Charges arose after police reported a car making speeds of up to 85 miles per hour between Nanaimo and Victoria Nov. 28. It did not stop when signalled to do so by Const. Ronald Lawrence, Chemainus, and Const. Hugh D. Boyer, Cobble Hill.

According to Const. Ronald Budd, Duncan, he stopped a car in Duncan, but that the driver set off again at high speed.

Dredge Job For Burrard Dry Dock Ltd.

Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., of North Vancouver, today was awarded a federal government contract to build a $3,200,000 Fraser River dredge.

The dredge contract has been the subject of strong pressure on the government by west coast unions, businessmen and provincial and civic officials.

Bidding unsuccessfully for the contract were two Victoria firms, Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., and Yarrrows Ltd.

Burrard is the parent company of Yarrrows.

Bids closed several weeks ago, but were held up while government engineers "re-evaluated" the job.

TENDERS DIFFERED

Burrard's bid was lower than the other two tendering firms, and was negotiated still lower by the department of public works.

A comparison of the bids is difficult because the three firms submitted a total of 13 tenders, each with differing specifications.

No Eastern yards bid on the dredge, although several had initial plans drawn. Apparently the costly shipment of the barge around the Panama Canal dampened their enthusiasm for the job.

The dredge, of the suction hopper type, will be 238 feet long and 45 feet in beam, and will move 40,000 cubic yards of material a week. Work is to be completed within 20 months.

St. Louis College Brothers' Home Smoke Damaged

About $200 smoke damage was caused late Thursday at the residence of the Christian Brothers of Ireland, 959 Balmoral, who were roused from their beds when the rooms filled with smoke.

Firemen discovered a drawerful of smouldering items in a kitchen cabinet about 11.15 p.m.

Smoke was so dense the department used smoke ejectors, a type of fan, to clear the premises where 11 Christian Brothers live.

The Brothers are instructors at St. Louis College, Pandora Avenue.

Sale of Stray Cow Charged to Farmer

Arthur Edward Longland, 4051 Granville, was charged in Saanich court Thursday with selling a stray cow.

Judgment will be handed down next Thursday by Magistrate William Ostler.

Jaginder Singh Judge, 1703 Burnside West, who operates the dairy farm there with his father, Jagar Singh Judge, said a Holstein heifer, born and registered on their farm, vanished in October, 1958, when about aged two.

Longland is alleged to have sold the cow to Robert Quinn, 4061 Granville, for $150 in August this year.

About eight weeks ago a cow turned up at the Judge farm, identical to the missing animal except for a missing right ear tag.

Longland said he bought the cow from Charles Stark, 4170 Granville, in October, 1958, and Stark said he bought five Holsteins from Richard Birch, 5062 West Saanich, five months earlier.

Birch said he had raised the calves from a few days old.

There were apparently several other cow deals involved.

Longland said he didn't know the cow he sold to Quinn was a stray, and he had no intention of fraudulently deceiving him.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Independent Seafarers' International Union has failed in a bid to have men who joined a rival union dismissed from Westward Shipping Company Ltd.

Polish Envoy's Wife Beaten Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department reported today that the wife of a Polish diplomat was badly roughed up last Sunday by unknown assailants who broke into their Washington apartment.

A department spokesman identified the victim as Mrs. Antoni Czajer, wife of the second secretary of the Polish Embassy. Her assailants entered the apartment while Czajer and the couple's two children were gone.

IKE ARRIVES IN ROME

'We Want
To Live
In Peace'

ROME (UPI)—President Eisenhower delivered to the Italian people today a "simple message from America . . . We want to live in peace."

He stood bare-headed in wind and driving rain for the playing of the United States and Italian national anthems after stepping down to the puddle-filled runway of Ciampino airport from the 707 jet airliner that carried him here from Washington at the start of an 11-nation goodwill tour.

The heavy rain that has pelted Rome for a week delayed his arrival by 16 minutes and gave the airport ground radar installations a few moments of difficulty in locating the presidential plane as it approached for a landing in a heavy overcast.

But the huge plane splashed down to a safe and wet landing.

When he stepped from the aircraft, Eisenhower was greeted by Italian President Giovanni Gronchi, Premier Antonio Segni and a host of other officials.

"We want to live in peace and friendship with freedom," the president told them.

"This message, I hope, will be heard in every country where communications are free."

The rain held the crowd to a minimum, but even the com-

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Immigration Ban
Grievance Cause

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

Japan has a two-sided grievance against Canada — this country is admitting large numbers of immigrants from all over the Western world and substantial numbers from China but it admits virtually no Japanese.

The grievance is two sided because it secretly humiliates the Japanese people and retards promising Japanese investments in Canada.

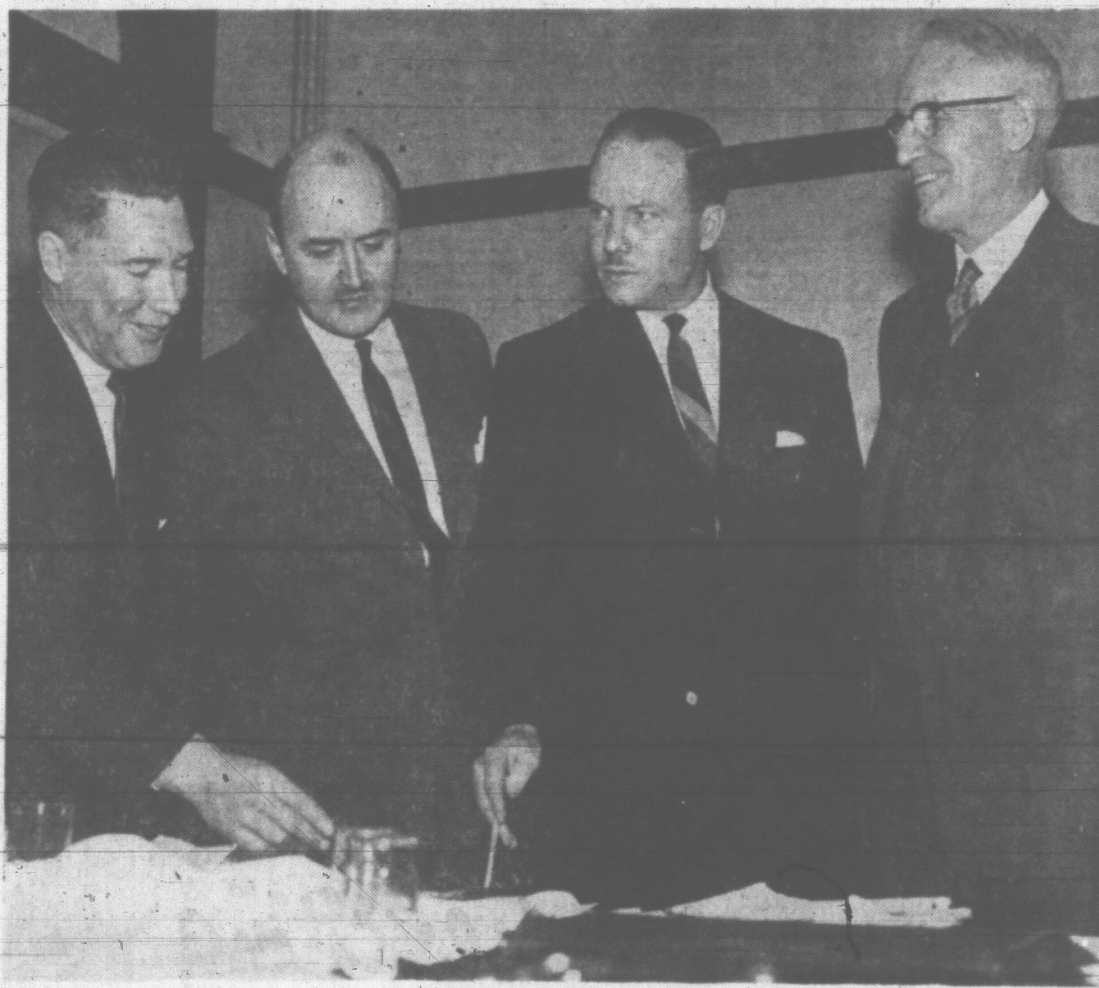

When this delicate subject of Asian immigration is opened two facts should be understood — at once: First, Japan has no hope or thought of relieving its population pressure by exporting its citizens and is unlikely to reach its small emigration target of 12,000 persons in all foreign countries this year; second, Japan thoroughly understands why Canada will not admit large numbers of its people as permanent residents and makes no complaint on that score.

Nevertheless, the discrimination against Japanese, as compared to Chinese, rankles deeply in Japan.

Last year Canada admitted 2,615 Chinese immigrants through Hong Kong on compassionate grounds — ostensibly the relatives of Chinese already living here, though in fact one can be sure who or what they were, since proof is difficult or impossible. But only 188 Japanese were admitted on similar grounds. In the first nine months of this year Chinese immigrants numbered 2,046 and Japanese 130.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief steel industry negotiator today rejected President Eisenhower's call for around-the-clock negotiations.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's two major railways today proposed that the federal government help foot the bill for a $65,287,000 loss incurred annually in moving western export grain at low statutory rates.

The CPR and CNR asked the Royal Commission on Transportation for a federal subsidy but made it clear that while they wanted the money themselves it should be labelled as assistance to the Prairie farmer. Experts estimated the assistance sought could range from $18,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year.

AID CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Donations Open
For Korea Fund

Subscription list opened today for the "Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund" of the Unitarian Service Committee, which will be sponsored in Victoria by the Victoria Daily Times.

This will be the seventh consecutive year that the Times has supported the USC Christmas appeal headed by Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, USC executive director.

Known in nearly every underprivileged area of the world as the "little lady with the big heart," Dr. Hitschmanova has directed her efforts in recent years to assisting the human wreckage left in Korea by the war there.

Last year her fund was devoted to providing milk for Korean children, who rarely taste something which Victorians accept as commonplace. The year before the "T. Bricks for Korea" campaign provided materials for a tuberculosis outpatients' pavilion at Han No Hospital in Seoul, Korea.

Green Presses
Columbia Project
In Talks Here

By PETE LOUDON

A climax to years of planning for two immense hydro projects for British Columbia was reached here today with opening of talks between two federal cabinet ministers and provincial government officials on the proposed Columbia River development.

The long-smouldering clash between this scheme and the enormous Wenner-Gren proposal for the Peace River in northeastern B.C. clearly emerged when External Affairs Minister Howard Green, on the eve of the talks, said the Canadian government does not propose to relax its policy of refusing export of electric power to the United States.

Sharp Blow

Officials of the Peace River Power Development Company have said they would need to export power to utilize the full potential of the $610,000,000 project. They have already made representations to Ottawa for removal of taxes on power exports.

First reaction of power experts was that Mr. Green's statement had delivered a sharp blow to the Peace River plan.

Interviewed at the Empress Hotel on his arrival Thursday night, Mr. Green also squashed Peace River Power Development Co. statements that the Columbia would not be able to produce power for 11 years.

By Next Year

He forecast completion of a Columbia River power treaty with the United States in time to see work start on the first Columbia storage dam next year.

He said he believed Columbia power, in form of return of downstream benefits by the U.S., would be transmitted to the coast at a cost of less than four mills immediately the dam was built.

He set no date, but Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission probing the Columbia project, said last June this would be possible by 1966.

This would match the best hopes of the Peace promoters and would have the added advantage of a lower cost power. PRPD president W. C. Mainwaring recently said Peace power would come to the coast at a cost competitive with other power now supplied here — generally described at the six-mill level.

People Decide

Perhaps with all this in mind, Mr. Green then told reporters, the people of B.C. should "decide for themselves" whether the Peace project should be permitted to go ahead at the same time as the Columbia.

The company expects a decision on a water licence application to the B.C. government.

Japanese Ship Hits
Coast Guard Tender

SEATTLE (AP)—A United States Coast Guard buoy tender and a Japanese tanker collided in the fog-shrouded mouth of the Columbia River off Astoria, Ore., this morning. Coast Guard headquarters here said both vessels were holed. The tanker, the Meiko Maru of Tokyo, settled about eight feet but apparently was in no immediate danger of sinking.

Pulp Empire 'Logical'
For Peace

Establishment of a pulp industry in the Peace River area in 1961 would be a logical follow-up development to the Peace River hydro scheme, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today.

He was commenting on a report Thursday from Vancouver that construction of a pulp mill complex was under preliminary study by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company. (See page 11.)

"If you are going to flood an area, it's a foregone conclusion the timber must be removed. The mills would also provide a demand for the Peace power," he said.

The proposed Peace River dam will create a lake 300 miles long in the Rocky Mountain Trench.

Mr. Williston also commented at noon on progress of the Columbia River hydro talks which started here this morning. He and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton are joint chairmen.

SURPRISING

"There is surprising unanimity and a good working relationship."

He agreed with the earlier comments of External Affairs Minister Howard Green that B.C. is as anxious as Ottawa to get the Columbia hydro project underway.

"But," he added, "There are real differences and I have no idea when they will be resolved."

The federal-provincial committee is studying progress reports of the International Joint Commission.

Space Monk
Picked Up
In Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP)—A monkey made a test trip 55 miles out from earth today in a space capsule and was recovered from a descent into the Atlantic Ocean.

The capsule that carried the monkey, named Sam, on a 13-minute flight is the one designed for an eventual attempt to put a man into space.

CONDITION NOT KNOWN

The capsule, parachuted on its descent, was picked up by the destroyer Borie about 200 miles at sea, a little more than three hours later.

There was no immediate determination of whether Sam had come through the flight safely.

The officers of the Borie decided against opening the sealed capsule in the absence of a physician who might be able to give the monkey quick treatment if he had been injured.

Another navy vessel, the Fort Mandan, stood nearby.
The national aeronautics and space agency said there was a capsule aboard the Fort Mandan and tentative plans were to transfer the capsule to the landing ship by means of a line.
However, the seas were rough, with waves eight feet high, and there might be difficulty in doing this.

DONATIONS

For those who have forgotten the cause of so much misery, here is a brief account of the hostilities which caused so much human wreckage.
The country was divided along the 38th parallel by what was to have been a temporary agreement, with the Russians in the north, and Americans in the south. As a result, the Republic of Korea was formed in 1948.

In June, 1950, Korean Communist troops from the north invaded the republic, the UN army fought back, and the bitter and costly war, which left 100,000 Korean orphans, 284,000 widows, and 517,000 dependent children, lasted two years and 17 days.

Cheques should be made out to the Korean Crippled Children's Fund, and mail donations should be addressed to the fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

Cash donations will be accepted at the main office of the Times at 2631 Douglas Street, or at the downtown office, 1215 Broad Street. All donations will be acknowledged in the Times and will be deductible for income tax purposes. Receipts will be given directly to donors who appear in person and mailed to the others.

A collection taken at a public meeting in Oak Bay Junior High School Thursday night, when Dr. Hirschmanova spoke on her work in Asia (see story page 6) netted $208.27.

Given at the same time were $25 from Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scuttham, and $100 from the Times.

IKE

munists had joined with the rest of Italy beforehand to make it clear that Eisenhower's visit was welcomed with warmth and high hopes for world peace.

Gronchi told him despite the multi-party Italian system, which includes a powerful Communist faction, Italy's tribute to Eisenhower "is unanimous—I want to stress the word 'unanimous'."

After his remarks which reiterated the views he expressed before leaving Washington Thursday night for the unprecedented 19-day journey that will take him to three continents, Eisenhower was whisked off to the centre of Rome.

The president was greeted by warm applause. A handful of spectators shouted "ave like Ike" as he drove by en route to an afternoon of quiet rest after his arduous journey.

He had a scheduled informal meeting at 7.30 p.m. with Gronchi. An hour later, Eisenhower was to be guest of honor at a dinner given by the Italian president.

In a broadcast Thursday night just before he left Washington, Eisenhower emphasized that his is a message of peace.

"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire, a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

The president said the first requirement for reducing the tensions is a start on mutual disarmament by the Western powers, and the Soviet bloc. But he warned that until disarmament starts, the West must maintain a military strength adequate in quality and power.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)

Bishop is dead but his voice may still be heard—describing how it feels to die of cyanide poisoning.

Police said the 21-year-old sailor from Grants Pass, Ore., committed suicide by swallowing potassium cyanide crystals, and kept a tape recorder going while he was dying.

His body was found Thursday by a maid at a motel on Pacific Coast Highway. Bishop left a note saying: "Play the tape recorder."

Police found the recorder, turned it on.

The first part of the tape contained a statement by Bishop that he was going to kill himself because of "personal problems." Further on, the recorded voice said:

"I am now taking the cyanide . . .

"I have now swallowed the cyanide."

There was a gasp, then the voice continued:

"It's beginning to burn . . . it's burning more now . . .

"My heart is beginning to pound . . .

Another gasp.

"My heart is pounding so hard it's shaking the bed . . .

Then these last words:

"Please forgive me, folks."

DRIVER PHONES COURT TO SAY HE 'SLEPT IN'

(From Duncan Bureau)

Robert Geoffrey Follows, 22, of Victoria, who turned up late at Duncan police court Thursday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention, was convicted by Magistrate A. C. Sutton and fined $25.

Follows, scheduled to appear at 9.30 a.m., called Duncan RCMP at 10.15 a.m. from his home in Victoria to report he had "slept in."

The RCMP corporal acting for the Crown told Follows over the phone that by "driving at the speed limit you should be in court by one minute past noon. If you're not here there will be a warrant for your arrest."

PARTY FOR RETARDED KIDDIES

(From Duncan Bureau)

A request for a Christmas tree and party for six retarded children of the Arcadian School was granted by the Cowichan School District 65 board of trustees Thursday.

Blast Hits Tanker

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—An explosion shattered the forward hold of a tanker 65 miles off the North Carolina coast today, but reports from the ship indicated there were no injuries and no immediate danger of sinking.

The usual Christmas grants were approved, ranging from $7.50 for a one-room school to $25 per room for larger elementary schools.

Arcadian School is holding "open house" December 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. Social welfare, public health and school board officials have been issued invitations.

New courses include ceramics, taught by Mrs. S. A. Gorie, Sherman Road, and physical education, taught by Mrs. G. F. Frisch, Crofton.

(From Duncan Bureau)

Has Duncan's pet poisoner gone underground, moved his scene of operation, been frightened off, or decided he has caused enough grief and heartbreak?

Although there has been no new outbreak since last Friday, RCMP and the SPCA are continuing their investigation into the poisoning of 17 dogs within four weeks.

Fourteen dogs died of poisoning. Three others treated by a veterinarian immediately after showing symptoms of strychnine poisoning are recovering.

Various theories have been advanced for the cause of the outbreak of poisonings. Crows are suggested as possible carriers. Slug killers for garden use have also been blamed. SPCA officials, however, believe that strychnine administered in an unknown manner caused the deaths.

Duncan SPCA Inspector Harold Orrick warned that there was a two-week lapse between the first and second poisoning reports, and has urged dog owners to continue to keep a watchful eye on their pets "until we are sure this thing is stopped. We want to catch whoever or whatever is responsible and we certainly don't want any more poisonings."

Two Victoria SPCA officials assisted with the investigation here earlier in the week.
